GALLAGHER DOES NOT RESPOND TO SOUND OF HIS MASTER'S VOICE

Arch Boodler's Absence Puts Prosecution at Sea---It Doesn't Know If He'll Ever Come Home.

(Special to The Tribune)

SAN FRANCISCO Dec 9—The prosecution has been unable to locate Big Jim Gallagher the boodling ex supervisor who is traveling in the East and the trial of Patrick Calhoun president of the United Railroads on the charge of having offered a bribe to former supervisor Thomas F Lonergan has been postponed to January 6 1908

These are the developments of this morning's session of Judge Lawlor's court They were by no means unexpected It was only after a long conference in Judge Lawlor's chambers that the continuance was finally agreed to nor was the formal order made until Attorneys A A Moore and Stanley Moore had versed their opinion of the tactics of the graft prosecution

CALHOUN'S ATTORNEYS INDIGNANT

Their statements in court were courteous and polished but beneath it all lay plainly their indignation at the treatment to which Patrick Calhoun ever ready and anxious for a speedy trial has been subjected by the prosecution Nor is there any assurance that the trial of Calhoun will be taken up at the date which has now been set There was a peculiar significance in the remarks of Judge Lawlor who in granting the continuance said he was actuated by the absence of an important witness for the prosecution and the uncertainty of said witness reappearance in San Francisco

Whether the court has any intimation that Gallagher has forever wiped the dust and debris of San Francisco from his feet or whether his honor referred merely to the uncertainty of the boodler's return was left to the inference of the throng in the auditorium of Temple Sherith Israel

CALHOUN TO GO TO NEW YORK.

In the meantime Patrick Calhoun is to go to New York whither he is called by urgent business To this the prosecution was compelled to consent before the defense would acquiesce to the continuance of the case Calhoun was further given the assurance of the court that his case would be given a speedy trial although Judge Lawlor was not ready to compel Heney to pledge himself to the trial of the case on January 6th next

There was considerable wrangling over this point Both A A Moore and Stanley Moore sought to have the graft prosecutor bind the state to a perseverance of the present order of the cases This Heney refused to do merely giving the assurance that it was at this time his intention to try Calhoun before any of the other United Railroads defendants were brought to the bar

UNPREPAREDNESS OF PROSECUTION

The unpreparedness of the prosecution to proceed against Calhoun at this time was more plainly evidenced today than at any other time And so the famous case has gone over until after the holidays The same disposition was made of

ON BOARD THE STEAMER PRESIDENT GRANT In the English Channel, Dec 9 — (By wireless telegraph to London) — Mrs Taft, wife of the American Secretary of War joined her husband on board this steamer early this morning at Boulogne

On the trip out on a harbor tender, the party had an exceedingly narrow escape from wreck and disaster. Mrs. Taft and Mrs. George Post Wheeler, wife of the second secretary of the American embassy at Tokio, and the other passengers for the President Grant boarded the tender Holland last night within the harbor works of Boulogne Very heavy seas were running outside and this delayed the departure of the tender, but at 1 30 this morning it being supposed that the President Grant had not come inside water, the Holland started out to take the passengers alongside. Soon after leaving it was discovered that the President Grant had not come inside.

KER DALZELL BROWN AND LAWYER BARTNETT IN JAIL---WALKER ARRESTED

L, REDUCTION ASKED FOR BY BOTH

ried out to Judge Dunne's court, but arrived after the adjournment had been taken and was later returned to the prison.

ASK REDUCTION OF BAIL.

J. Dalzell Brown accordingly appeared alone before Judge Dunne, and his attorney, Hiram Johnson, appealed to the court to reduce the bond, which had been fixed at $200,000, to $50,000. The attorney told the court that he was sure Mr. Brown would be on hand when wanted, and that he himself would be present there to represent him.

In reply, Assistant District Attorney Hoff Cook, for the prosecution, declared that he had no personal knowledge of the embezzlement or the facts connected with it, but hinted that the district attorney's office feared that Mr. Brown had attempted to depart from the city. He declared that his investigations into the affairs of the bank revealed a condition which, if Mr. Brown were charged on that score, would warrant an excessive bail. But in connection with the embezzlement he said he knew nothing except what has been told him by Mr. Heney.

Judge Dunne instructed Assistant District Attorney Cook to obtain more information on the subject and the matter of the reduction of bail was continued until this afternoon, and Mr. Brown was taken back to the city prison by a detective.

Before an adjournment of court was taken Attorney Johnson explained that he had been called into conference with Mr. Brown at 8 o'clock last evening, and that he felt sure Brown had no intention of leaving the city.

At this afternoon's session of Judge Dunne's court, Attorney Barclay Henley, representing the Bankers' Association, opposed the reduction of the bail of Brown and Bartnett. The judge, however, decided to make the amount in each case $75,000, which it is understood will be given by a surety company, the bonds now being in course of preparation.

J. Dalzell Brown and W. J. Bartnett Arrested and Lodged in Jail

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9.—Accused of felonious embezzlement of the securities of the Colton estate, J. Dalzell Brown and Walter J. Bartnett, officials of the defunct California Safe Deposit & Trust Company, were taken into custody by the police last night. Brown was arrested at his home, 2231 Washington street, about 7 o'clock, and lodged in a cell at the city prison, locked up in one of the iron cages in company with drunks and other petty offenders. Bartnett was taken into custody at his island home in Marin County and kept in charge of Detectives Tom Murphy and George Mulcahy. The bonds of both prisoners were fixed at $200,000.

As it was late for them to catch the last boat from Sausalito and bring their prisoner to the city, the detectives telephoned to Chief of Police Biggy that they had their man and would guard him for the night in his own home and cross the bay on the first boat in the morning.

Events followed each other closely yesterday in the development of the case against the two bankers charged with the felony embezzlement of the funds intrusted to their care, and of which they have refused to give any account.

AWAITED ARRIVAL OF DETECTIVES.

Bartnett had been apprised, earlier in the evening of the arrest of Brown and his friends had warned him that the police were on their way across the bay to place him under arrest. In the luxury of his island home, which goes by the name of "Chiawahnee," the banker waited through the evening for the coming of the officers of the law. When they arrived he met them at the door with the affability and graciousness of an entertaining host and invited them to enter. The nervousness that had characterized his appearance on the day before had disappeared and Bartnett was calm as the officers read the warrant to him and told him that he was under arrest.

Following years of successful financiering in which the man who was now a prisoner had floated enterprises of magnitude and planned the building of a transcontinental railroad, came the end. Charged with a felony and unable to explain what had become of the funds of the estate intrusted to his care, Bartnett faced the officers of the law with a cool bravado.

Seated in the diningroom of the island mansion the detectives explained to their prisoner that it was too late to catch the last boat for the city and that they would remain with him until the morning, when he would be taken across the bay and locked up the city prison.

BROWN SAYS BANK IS SOLVENT.

"This is the first time I have been in prison, even as a visitor," said Brown as he stood in the iron-grated corridor after his name and description had been booked by the police sergeant at the desk.

The air was foul with tobacco smoke, and the sounds from the cells as the prisoners joked with each other after their evening meal were strange in the ears of the well dressed financier. A woman was talking through the bars with a male prisoner. Brown looked at them and said:

"What suffering there is in the world that we forget."

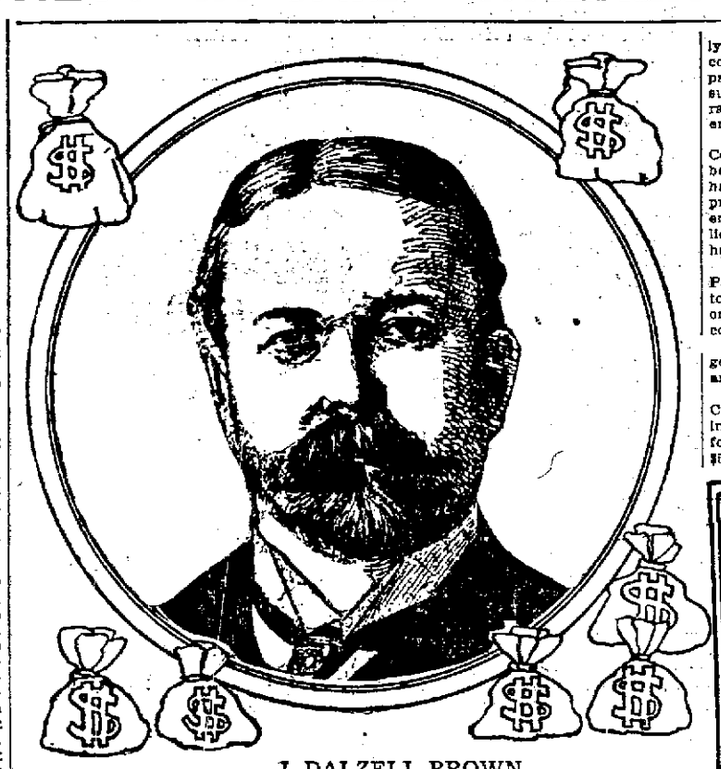

He was dazed and hardly appeared to realize what had happened.

"Did the depositors' committee have anything to do with this?" he asked with a return of animation. "I am surprised at that. I was with Julius Raphael from 5 o'clock on Thursday until 4 o'clock on Friday morning and when he left he assured me that I had satisfied him that the bank was solvent, and he said that he would aid us in every way. This can't help matters."

NO FOUNDATION TO CHARGE, HE SAYS.

"Mr. Johnson tells me that this is a remarkable proceeding to arrest a man on Sunday night and place the bond at such a figure. Yes, I have friends out to get bail for me, but I hardly think they will be able to do anything tonight."

Hiram Johnson went to the prison as Brown's attorney, and the lawyer, fresh from the prosecution in the graft cases, accommodated himself easily to the role of counsel for a defendant, and expressed indignation at the manner in which Brown had been dragged from his home, his wife and his son.

J. DALZELL BROWN.

"This charge is utterly without foundation," Johnson said. "Mr. Brown is not guilty of the offense with which he is charged, nor of any criminal offense. There is no transaction in which he has engaged in which he had profited a single penny, and his arrest on Sunday night with a prohibitive bail is wholly unprecedented."

Accountant Relates to Committee Statement of Bank Transaction

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9. — Developments in the affairs of the defunct California Safe Deposit and Trust Company were made possible yesterday by the activity of the depositors' committee of the institution, who determined Saturday to investigate the Fillmore street branch. The committee met in the office of Samuel Rosenheim, one of the committee's counsel, yesterday and took the statement of Gustave Chevasuss, accountant of the Fillmore street branch.

The testimony of Teller Gabbs of the same branch was taken, and the committee brought to light a startling series of reckless transactions which the attorneys brand as misdemeanor embezzlement. According to a statement issued in the evening by the committee and the attorneys, the officers of the bank took practically all the money deposited at the Fillmore street branch and loaned it to stockholders in large sums, to themselves and to mythical companies.

Attorney Rosenheim recounted the statement of Chevasuss, and said that the worst thing told by the accountant was that the bank officials made two loans of money from the Fillmore street branch of $150,000 and $20,000 to a stockholder, accepting Goldfield mining stocks as security therefor. Chevasuss told the attorney that he had heard from an employe of the main office of the bank that David F. Walker, the president, borrowed $750,000 on his personal note unsecured, and Walker's name appears on the books as having made that deal for himself.

ABOUT FILLMORE BRANCH.

"Chevasuss also stated," continued the attorney, "that he had been informed that Former Bank Commissioner Dunsmoor, in 1906, before commencing an examination of the affairs of the bank, borrowed $20,000 on his personal note unsecured.

"Chevasuss said, under examination, that money had been coming into the Fillmore-street branch from merchants in the vicinity in large sums, say about $50,000 a month. These amounts, checked against the branch bank, were comparatively small, something like $1200 a month, as loans having been made by the branch direct to the depositors and merchants having accounts were transferred to the main office and Chevasuss received back his book, showing debits for sums like $30,000 and $50,000, and other large figures, accompanied by notes. The money was loaned to El Dorado Lumber Company, the Central Counties Land Company, the Central California Traction Company, and the Trinity County Water and Power Company, and also on a note from Charles A. Gray, a clerk in the office of Bartnett, secured by shares of the Loraine Mining Company, a manganese concern in Alameda County. The Central Counties Land Company made two loans of $30,000 and $50,000, the traction company got $50,000 and Gray borrowed $35,000.

RECEIVED NO NOTE FOR LOAN.

"Chevasuss said he never received any note for a loan to the lumber company which was made one day before the suspension of the bank, nor has he yet seen a note or any evidence whatever of the debt. He said, further, that he was requested by the officials of the bank, three days after its suspension, to enter on his books this loan as having been made before the date of the failure. In other transactions, he admitted that he made them appear as having taken place at the branch bank, although they were made, if at all, in the main office, and he knew nothing about them. He had done so in accordance with instructions from the managers.

"The bank employee also said that E. P. Vandercook, a director of the Union National Bank of Oakland, which failed after the local institution went under, and which was associated with the San Francisco concern, borrowed $10,000 the day before the suspension of the local bank, October 15, giving as security 1500 shares of the Central Counties Land Co. This company is one of the concerns connected with the banker. The total amount of these loans or notes, is about $900,000, of which about $325,000 was loaned on mythical securities."

MR. DUNSMOOR'S STATEMENT.

Former Bank Commissioner C. H. Dunsmoor says:

"The California Safe Deposit and Trust Company was always looked upon by the commissioners as one of the institutions which was to be looked after carefully. I believe, however, that since the last examination, on December 7, 1906, the transactions which resulted in the failure transpired. The examination of last year and of this year shows a wide difference in the amount loaned to the officers and to the companies in which they were interested. As for the bank having the necessary 10 per cent deposits on hand, I think there are very few banks in the State which follow the rule, and it is a matter of opinion with the commissioners if it is advisable for them to do so. Under some conditions it would be unwise for banks to have that amount on hand.

"I never secured a loan of $20,000, or anything near that sum, from the company and instead of my owing it money I have some money on deposit. I never secured more than $1000 personally, from the bank at one time. For the past thirty years I have been obtaining money from banks and every cent of it has been paid. At one time, with an associate, a rich man who placed ample securities, I received $5000. That was at the time of the oil boom and the money was paid back. I do not know how any such statement could be made and the books of the bank will show that I have money on deposit, rather than owing or of ever having had such a loan. I don't know why a bank commissioner should not borrow money."

Charges in Complaint That the Trust Holdings Were Misappropriated

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9.—Crittenden Thornton swore to the felony embezzlement complaint against J. Dalzell Brown and W. J. Bartnett. The complaint was issued by Judge Dunne yesterday afternoon. Thornton charges that on or about November 20th, the defendants, while acting as trustees, wilfully and fraudulently appropriated certain property, held by them in trust for the heirs and legatees and devisees of Ellen M. Colton, deceased. These persons are: Caroline Colton Dahlgren, Theodosia Cook, Grace Katherine Agnew, Montgomery Martin and Helena Marguerite Beatrice Sacher.

The property is enumerated in the complaint as follows: Ten $1000 bonds of the Attchison, Topeka and Santa Fe general mortgage 4 per cent, due 1995; four $1000 bonds of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, first mortgage, principal due 1990; ten $1000 bonds of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, first mortgage, fifty-year, 4 per cent, principal due 1948; thirty $1000 bonds of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company, general mortgage, 4½ per cent, of 1892, principal payable 1992; ten $1000 bonds of the Northern Pacific Railroad, 4 per cent, due January, 1997; five $1000 bonds of the Contra Costa Water Company, 5 per cent, principal due 1918; twenty-six $1000 bonds of the Northern Pacific-Great Northern Railroad, C., B. and Q. collateral, principal due 1921; 100 $1000 bonds of the Western Pacific Railway Company, first mortgage, 5 per cent, due 1933; ten $1000 bonds of the Norfolk and Western Railway Company, first consolidated mortgage, 4 per cent, principal due 1996, amounting in all to $205,000.

Bartnett Resigns From Western Pacific---Talks About Bank Situation

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9.—His resignation as vice-president and general attorney of the Western Pacific Company was telegraphed to President Jeffrey of that company yesterday.

"I shall also resign as special administrator of the Colton estate," Bartnett said; "not that I am guilty of the charges which have been made against me, but because there is a conflict between the interests of the estate and the California Safe Deposit & Trust Company, and under the circumstances I cannot be placed in a dual position. For these reasons I am going to resign, but not because I am guilty of wrongdoing."

"Yes," he admitted, "I telegraphed my resignation East yesterday morning. It seemed to be advisable under the circumstances.

"The underlying assets of the bank are sound. Perhaps they are not all liquid at this time, but then liquid assets are rare just now. Give us time. That is all.

"Why, two of the largest and strongest banks in the city today have been through a period of reconstruction. Give us the same chance. Give us the chance the Fireman's Fund had.

TELLS OF HIS SECURITIES.

"We have always put our money into institutions the development of which has helped the State. Ours was not originally a commercial bank, and as our accounts were largely in the savings department, we were enabled to build up such properties as the Oakland street railroads and the electric lighting properties of this city.

"We went into the Carnegie Brick Company because of loans which had been made to the former company. We had to do it to protect ourselves. That property is worth today $5,000,000. It employs 400 men, and there are $400,000 liquid assets in the shape of products on hand and solvent book accounts.

"We own nearly all the stock of the Pacific Window Glass Company in Stockton, which employs 200 men, and is the only window glass manufactory on the coast.

"Just look at this city. Isn't there going to be a marvelous market for brick and window glass?

"Then there is El Dorado Lumber Company, in which the bank has been interested for fifteen years. It owns forty-five miles of railroad. It has over $500,000 liquid assets, and there are 24,-

W. J. BARTNETT.

000,000 feet of lumber in the yards. We cut 36,000,000 feet of white and sugar pine last year, and the company has been paying dividends for two and a half years.

EVERY DOLLAR IS REPRESENTED.

"These three companies employ altogether 1000 men and have $1,000,000 liquid assets. The bank's investments in these three companies amount to $5,000,000, and in my opinion every dollar is represented in the value of the properties today. I do not own a share of stock in any of the companies in which the bank has invested, and I have never speculated in them."

When it was suggested at this point that his confidence in the future of the bank would be of more effect if he made a statement of his connection with the Colton securities, which have vanished to the amount of $400,000, Bartnett said:

"Why bring up a newspaper sensation? What we want to do is to put the bank on its feet again, and we can do it."

"But what of the Colton securities?" was insisted.

"All I will say is that I have not sold nor hypothecated them. I am innocent of any wrong."

"But where are they?"

"I have said all I wish to say on that subject. The bank has $1,500,000 on call, and $2,400,000 in notes—some of them slow, but most of them collectable—and it has $500,000 cash. In thirty days, if the stockholders will help us, we will have $2,000,000 in cash.

RECEIVER RUINOUS.

"It would be ruinous to have a receiver appointed at this time. It would be against the interests of the depositors. If a receiver was appointed today and dumped these valuable securities on the market it would mean disaster."

"Would you contest a suit for the appointment of a receiver?"

"I would not like to answer that now. What we want is that the stockholders' committee get together with the depositors' committee and that they work out a plan whereby the institution could go ahead. There is no reason why we cannot accomplish our reorganization as other banks have done. I have succeeded in everything I have undertaken.

"As for the Western Pacific stock, which the bank holds on the Treadwell loans, it will be worth $60 a share within two years, and that is more than it is being carried for on the books of the bank today. The road will be completed within a year, and then it will be a valuable stock."

being dashed upon the rocks. The passengers were thrown about in every direction. Mrs. Taft and Mrs. Wheeler were crouching in the captain's cabin when some fixtures above them came down with a crash. Fortunately, they were not injured. Near the lighthouse, the Holland managed to get a grip with an anchor and this improved the situation.

Repairs were hurriedly made. The President Grant came in at 3 o'clock and the passengers from the tender were transferred without further incident.

Among those who came off on the Holland were: M. Rischmann, subprefect of Boulogne, who greeted Secretary Taft in the name of France.

The Sub-Prefect expressed his regret at the ill-timed start of the Holland. Secretary Taft made an appropriate reply expressing his deep appreciation of the consideration of the French government and regretting that the change of plans had made it necessary for him to abandon his proposed visit to Paris.

The President Grant is eight hours behind her schedule because of the storm. After taking on Boulogne passengers, the steamer sailed for Plymouth.

Immediately following the services the body will be taken to Cincinnati, where it will be buried beside that of Mrs. Taft's husband, Judge Alonso Taft.

CALHOUN TRIAL

the cases of Ford, Mullally, Abbott, Ruef and Schmitz.

The cases of Frank Drum, Eugene De Sabla, John Martin, Schmitz and Ruef, known as the gas cases, went over for two weeks and the cases against Louis Glass were continued one week, to be set.

Court convened promptly at 9:30 o'clock. The prosecution was represented by Assistant District Attorneys Heney and O'Gara, and with them sat Rudolph Spreckels and Detective William J. Burns. Patrick Calhoun occupied the seat which he selected last Thursday, in the second pew from the front. With him were his leading counsel, A. A. Moore Sr., and Attorneys Earl Rogers, Stanley Moore, Lewis F. Byington and Harry T. Creswell. Behind them sat Schmitz, looking yellow and worn, awaiting the disposition of the case.

HENEY ASKS FOR DELAY.

As soon as court had been called, Attorney A. A. Moore arose, and upon his motion Attorney Byington was made attorney of record in the Calhoun case. Then Francis J. Heney arose. He announced that the prosecution had as yet failed to locate Gallagher and that he would be compelled to ask for another continuance.

"We have not heard yet from Gallagher, your honor," said the prosecutor, "and we find ourselves compelled to seek further delay. It will be as well, perhaps, to have the case go over until after the holidays. For that reason I would suggest that counsel retire with your honor, to your chambers, there to confer upon the advisability of such continuance."

CONFERENCE IN CHAMBERS.

Accordingly Judge Lawlor, Attorneys A. A. Moore, Stanley Moore, Earl Rogers, O'Gara and Heney adjourned to Judge Lawlor's chambers, where a long conference ensued.

Meanwhile, the failure of Heney to locate Gallagher and the evident stalling of the prosecution for time, was freely discussed by the crowd which filled the courtroom. The veniremen, seated at the left of the auditorium, plainly showed their disgust at the turn of affairs. Spreckels and Burns, seated at the prosecution's table, held whispered conference and were plainly annoyed and embarrassed.

Calhoun became engaged in conversation with Byington and with Tom Gibson, who, with other United Railroads detectives, sat directly behind him.

EXPECTANT HUSH.

It was 10:15 before the door of Judge Lawlor's chambers opened and the court and attorneys returned. An expectant hush settled upon the spectators as Judge Lawlor ascended the bench. He said:

"Council will please summarize what has occurred at our conference."

Heney arose.

"If your honor please," he said, "the prosecution will now ask that this trial go over until after the holidays. We find ourselves compelled to ask the continuance because of the absence of Gallagher. We have in mind the convenience of the jurors, whom we do not care to bring here from time to time only to have to announce further delay. For this reason I think that the continuation should be made until after the first of the year."

CALHOUN'S REGRETS EXPRESSED.

Stanley Moore then took the floor. He said: "The defense wants to state that Mr. Patrick Calhoun has at all times been and is now ready to go to trial. He exceedingly regrets at this time the absence of Gallagher, and appreciates fully the inconvenience to which this continued delay has put the jurors. However, since the prosecution finds itself compelled to ask for time, we will consent. In the meantime, Mr. Calhoun has urgent business which calls him to New York. This he could well attend to in the interim, and we will ask, as one of the conditions to which we consent to this delay, that he be permitted to go. He will be back in time for the trial."

Heney said: "We recognize fully that Mr. Calhoun's business is of vital importance to San Francisco as well as to himself personally, and we are willing that he should at this time be permitted to go to New York."

"We would add," said Stanley Moore, "that Mr. Calhoun has been here continually since last April. That is the longest time he has been in any one place for the past twenty years."

UNCERTAINTY OF GALLAGHER.

Judge Lawlor then said:

"Counsel have fully covered what transpired during our conversation in chambers, and the court has acquiesced in advance to the motions which now have been formally made. In reaching the decision the court is influenced by the absence of the prosecution's witness, Gallagher, coupled with the uncertainty of his reappearance in San Francisco. The court further takes into consideration the inconvenience to the jurors, many of whom have made personal representations of the hardship occasioned by the continued delay and uncertainty of trial. It is, moreover, satisfactory to the court that Mr. Calhoun should go East, and the court will have no complaint to make should Mr. Calhoun's business occasion any delay."

The formal order, continuing the cases of Calhoun, Mullally, Abbott, Ford, Schmitz and Ruef, on the trolley indictments, to January 6, 1908, was then made.

READY TO WAIVE EXCEPTION.

Judge Lawlor then called attention to the fact that various exceptions had been made from time to time which might now, if insisted upon, vitiate the proceedings because of the new delay. On this point Stanley Moore said:

"If your honor please, those exceptions were not taken with any idea of interposing technicalities. We are willing to formally waive any claim to dismissal because of failure to try the case within sixty days, and to waive any similar technicality. But we would ask that the trials be proceeded with in the same order as at present. In other words, we want the prosecution to stipulate that it will proceed with the trial of Mr. Calhoun, and not interpose the trial of any of the other defendants."

PROSECUTION AT SEA.

But Heney was unwilling to bind the State to this agreement. He showed by his manner that the graft prosecution is hopelessly at sea so far as the trial of Calhoun is concerned. The most he would do was to give his assurance that his present intention is to proceed with the trial of Calhoun on the date set.

"I can't tell what may happen between now and then," was his excuse.

Judge Lawlor expressed the opinion that this matter should be left to the district attorney, unhampered by any court order. Both A. A. Moore and Stanley Moore sought further to get a definite promise from Heney, but the latter refused to commit himself.

After a conference with Mr. Calhoun, Stanley Moore then announced that the defense would be content with the assurance it had been given.

After the gas cases, and the cases against Louis Glass had been continued, as stated above, court adjourned.

of indebtedness bearing 3 per cent interest, bids for which were invited by the Secretary of the Treasury November 18, 1907, were for the purpose of borrowing money to meet public expenditures,' as provided by section 32 of the act approved June 15, 1899, and if not, whether there is any warrant of law for the issue of said certificates.'

QUESTIONS PANAMA LOAN.

"Second—Whether the issue of $50,000,000 of bonds of the Panama Canal loan, bids for which were called for by the Secretary of the Treasury on November 18, 1907, was required to defray the expenditures on said canal, there being at the time when both of these loans were made, upwards of $200,000,000 in the treasury for current expenditures.

"Third—Whether any legislation was necessary to protect the people and business interest of the country from the issue of unlawful money, if clearing house certificates are such, and to prevent the illegal increase of the public debt in time of peace."

The second series of resolutions direct the finance committee to investigate and to report to the senate as soon as practicable:

"First—Whether clearing house certificates, with which the country is now flooded, are being issued under authority of law or contrary to the same.

SUGGEST BIG TAX.

"Second—Whether the issuing of such certificates by an association of banks, both State and national, and the use of the same as money subjects such notes to the tax of 10 per cent provided in section 3412, United States revised statutes.

"Third—Whether it would be possible under the law as it is, for an association of banks, warehouses and elevators to issue certificates based on cotton, wheat and tobacco, stored in such warehouses or elevators, and fully insured, to be used as money in marketing said crops in the same way as clearing house certificates are now used."

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—The President today sent to the senate the following nominations:

Envoy extraordinary minister plenipotentiary to Nicaragua and Costa Rica, William L. Merry of California.

Interstate commerce commissioner, Chas. A. Prouty of Vermont.

Attorney-general of Porto Rico, Henry M. Hoyt of California.

Registrar of the land office at Vancouver, Washington, Hugh C. Phillips, of Washington.

Senator Culberson also called up his resolution asking for information concerning the issue of $50,000,000 of Panama Canal bonds and the total number of banks in operation on December 1 and November 18, 1907, and the amount of public money on deposit in the banks of each State and Territory on those dates.

These resolutions also were allowed to go over.

The same action was taken on the resolution concerning deposits of public money in national banks.

DR. WILLIAM C. BARTLETT, FAMOUS PIONEER, EXPIRES

THE LATE DR. WILLIAM C. BARTLETT.

Noted as Editor, Author and Preacher

Dr. William C. Bartlett died yesterday afternoon at his residence, 477 Twenty-ninth street, after a varied, useful and honored career extending over nearly fourscore and ten years. His last illness was long and painful for the reason that, notwithstanding his extreme age, his physical and mental powers were such that disease made slow inroad upon his iron frame.

Dr. Bartlett was born in Haddam, Connecticut, December 30, 1818, of New England ancestry. In early youth he had all the advantages and disadvantages of New England training as it existed on farms in Western Massachusetts.

MOVED TO OHIO.

While a young man he moved to Ohio, and acquired his A. B. degree. His degree of LL. D. was conferred upon him since he came to California by a Maryland college. Early in the fifties he practiced law in Ohio, associating with Salmon P. Chase, Alonzo Taft and other free-soilers.

In 1860 he came to California. He preached for several years as a Congregational minister in Nevada City, Grass Valley and Santa Cruz.

Before 1867 he began to write for the Evening Bulletin of San Francisco, and on the invitation of G. K. Fitch and Loring Pickering, entered upon editorial work for that paper.

SERVED ON TRIBUNE.

He served in that capacity for twenty-seven years. He then acted as editorial writer on THE TRIBUNE for several years.

Later still, he became connected with the Forestry department of the United States government and resigned from the position only a few years ago. At one time an attempt was made to supplant him in that department by a younger man, but the government declared that no man had ever done the work required any better and the position would be his as long as he desired to retain it.

MAGAZINE EDITOR.

Dr. Bartlett was editor of the Overland Monthly of San Francisco for some years.

One of the most interesting of his published works was a "Breeze from the Woods." He served as chairman of the trustees of the Institute for the Deaf, Dumb and Blind at Berkeley, as also of the Board of Trustees of Mills College.

He was one of the most useful members of the Board of Freeholders which framed the Oakland City charter and was instrumental in the organization of the Berkeley Club.

Dr. Bartlett is survived by one son, Albert Bartlett, and several grandchildren living at Isbel Grove, near Santa Cruz. He leaves also two brothers, Henry E. Bartlett and Jared A. Bartlett, whose homes are at Santa Cruz, and a sister, Sarah Ann Cone, residing in Westbrook, Conn.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of the deceased. Interment will be in Mountain View Cemetery.

Independents Win From the Hornets

The Independents showed a bit of class yesterday by taking the Oakland Hornets into tow at Freeman's Park by a score of two goals to nothing.

The Indies early showed their superiority. One minute after the opening of play a hot one was sent at McRitchie, which he cleared, but the ball struck Lynch, the Hornet's left full back, in the face and rebounded through the goal. The Indies continued to press on and after a clever run by Tommy Fay, he crossed to Melville who sent the ball through the uprights.

There was no scoring in the second half, although the Independents had the better of the play, and missed several chances of adding to their total. McRitchie kept goal in fine form, while Waeber and Cullen defended stoutly. Line up:

Independents—Goal, Smith; backs, Soutar and Woods; halfbacks, Grant, McGran and Anderson; forwards, Black, Fay, Melville, A. Soutar and Hyett.

Hornets—Goal, McRitchie; backs, Waeber and Lynch; halfback, Ayres, Cullen and Massey; forwards, Williams, Gilchrist, Elliott, Edwards and Palmer.

Referee—C. W. Irish.

SAYS GOULD PAID MISS HELEN MAR

Buffalo Bill Claims Woman Got So Much a Word for Evidence.

DENVER, Dec. 9.—"Miss Helen Mar was paid so much a word for her testimony in the Howard Gould divorce case, when she testified against Mrs. Gould in New York," said Colonel William Cody today. "After the lawyers for the defense are through with her the evidence she gave will not amount to anything," Colonel Cody added positively.

"As for the reports concerning Gould's offer to me to testify against the character of his wife," he added, "I was offered not $25,000, but $50,000, to testify and I refused the offer.

"I had an idea that the stage needed cultivation and advancement a few years ago, and believing that Miss Clemmons would be able to fill the job, I backed her for that position. The results of that experiment are well known, and I see that I played the wrong card. It was a business proposition, she lost out and so did I. That was all there was between us."

Company N Wins From the Griffons

The nine of Company N, League of the Cross Cadets, defeated the Griffon Catsups in a lively game Sunday.

The game lasted but four innings and a resulted in a final score of 14 to 0 in favor of Company N.

It was an exceedingly fast game and a remarkable feature was that only one Griffon man reached second base.

Young "Lloyd" of N produced some strong hitting and was greatly encouraged by the good work of his fellow players.

Company N's team, though a short while in the field, is fast approaching the front as one of the fastest aggregations in this city.

Under the direction of "Team Captain" Daniel Brearty the boys have made a very satisfactory record.

The boys have outlined a number of improvements and promise to be to the front all the while next season.

He will be the guest of the British Ambassador.

GIVES BIBLES TO EVANS' SAILORS

Last of Big Warships Sails to Joint Fleet at Hampton Roads.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—The last of the battleships which have been here fitting out for the cruise to the Pacific left port today when the Minnesota sailed from the navy yard for the rendezvous at Hampton Roads.

Thousands of visitors went aboard the ship yesterday, realizing that it will be many months before another of the big ships will be seen in New York harbor.

Scores of the sailors on the battleships which are about to sail for the Pacific will carry with them on the cruise Bibles, the personal gift of Miss Helen Gould, on the fly leaf of which is her signature and a scripture text written by her. The gifts were made by Miss Gould to the sailors who have taken special interest in the religious meetings at the naval branch of the Y. M. C. A. The lack of chaplains in the navy, it has been discovered, forces the fleet to sea with only four naval ministers aboard. They are on the battleships Connecticut, Virginia, Georgia and Rhode Island.

CALIFORNIA ARRIVES.

The first-class armored cruiser California arrived in San Francisco bay yesterday from Puget Sound. Captain V. L. Cottman, her new commander, was in charge.

On her way down the California received a wireless message from Table Bluff, saying that the gasoline power schooner Sotoyome was on fire, off Eureka, and asking that the California transmit the message by wireless, as the land wires were down.

Upon receiving the message, Captain Cottman turned the cruiser toward Eureka. After proceeding under full steam for several miles the officers sighted smoke on the skyline just inside the Eureka bar. When the California arrived there the Sotoyome was a burning hulk. It was learned that the crew of the vessel was safe.

The California received the wireless message at 1 p. m. Saturday, while about twenty miles off Table Bluff, and in two hours located the flaming schooner. It was a good test for the wireless apparatus with which the new cruiser is equipped.

Upon her arrival the California was boarded by the quarantine officers, who found everything in good condition. The cruiser will be in the bay until Thursday or Friday, when she will leave for Magdalena bay to "shake down" her green crew.

The California is still 220 men short of a full complement, which consists of 790 seamen, 60 marines and 32 officers. The officers reported that the new cruiser Nebraska, which was built at the northern yards, has made good on her trial trip, and is on her way to San Francisco.

CONSOLIDATION IS THEME IN PULPIT

Dr. E. E. Baker of First Presbyterian Church Favors Merging of Bay Cities.

Rev. Ernest E. Baker, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Fourteenth and Franklin streets, took for his subject at last night's service at the church, "Greater San Francisco," and the minister came out earnestly for consolidation of all the bay cities.

After announcing his belief that this should be, he dwelt particularly with Oakland in connection with San Francisco.

Dr. Baker's reasons for urging consolidation were, primarily, on moral grounds; that is that Oakland faced a responsibility, in that she was needed by the greater city to aid in perfecting a clean government. Regarding economic matters, such as taxation, fire protection, water and affairs of like nature, the speaker said he did not take into consideration at this time, though taxation under a greater city would be lighter, he believed, judging from experiences of other municipalities. But his particular reasons for consolidation were on moral, or more particularly, if one would have it so, on spiritual grounds.

Dr. Baker stated that if Oakland had gone to San Francisco with a holier-than-thou and Pharisaical spirit and said, "Let us make you clean," this would have been effrontery; but the fact was that San Francisco had sent a Macedonian cry to Oakland, and that it was Oakland's duty to respond. The question was most important, vital, in fact; a crisis was on that should be met.

DIVIDED STRENGTH.

Many voters dwelt in Oakland with business interests in San Francisco, and this resulted in loss, both to Oakland and San Francisco. One lost needed moral votes, the other lost the interest in its affairs that would not be so if one great city with one undivided interest existed, said the minister.

Dr. Baker also said that in his opinion Oakland has not yet realized its own importance, and that a high esprit de corps coming to the city gradually, be quickly perfected in a great city rebe quickly respected in a great city resulting from consolidation.

Miss Snow, Who Plays the Widow

'COLLEGE WIDOW' SCORES SUCCESS

George Ade's Comedy Attracts Large Audiences at Opening Performances at the Macdonough.

For that habit of melancholia try "The College Widow." It has four acts of laughter and wholesome fun. And if you be an old college graduate and want to re-experience the good, gone days of intercollegiate football contests, before Rugby took the place of the bloodier battle, just hear the echoes of the game George Ade introduces in his delightful comedy. It has all the thrill and realism of the actual contest, although the spectator gets but a glimpse of the bleachers and the fence surrounding the field where the game is supposed to be raging.

The initial performance of "The College Widow" in this city took place yesterday afternoon at the Macdonough Theater, and both then and in the evening practically full houses applauded and laughed through the four acts of the comedy. In a university community such as this "The College Widow" ought to have a particularly successful run, for it pictures the college man of real life, turn-up pancake hat and all.

THE WIDOW WINS.

"The College Widow" has been so widely heralded that a discussion of the plot seems hardly necessary, but for those who may have forgotten let it be known that the college widow is not a widow at all, but the young and fascinating daughter of President Witherspoon of Atwater College, a Presbyterian institution of learning "lying east of Minnesota and somewhat west of New York." So many student hearts have been broken by the daughter that collegians call her "the college widow," and when Billy Bolton, who has been taking a three years' course in football at a western university, arrives at Atwater on his way to Bingham College, Atwater's rival for football honors, "the widow" is ordered by the Atwater students to use arts to pursuade Bolton to remain at Atwater. She does, and he remains. Hence numerous complications and much indignation on the part of Hiram Bolton, Billy's father, who has a deep love for Bingham because its faculty expelled him, thereby saving him from a scientific career and making possible his success as a railroad president.

There is much chance for good character portrayal in the play, and some are well handled and some not. Bessie Tanner, the athletic girl, so far as acting is concerned, is the best of the women characters. Maude Earle, as a waitress at a college boarding house, gives some of the cleverest acting.

Among the men are many distinct types, a majority of them well acted. There is some bad acting among the youthful players, but as a whole "The College Widow" is all that it pretends to be—an evening of amusement.

WHISKY ADULTERATORS IN FEAR OF OFFICIALS

WASHINGTON.—"If you see a revenue stamp on the barrel it's whisky."—Treasury Department.

"It isn't. It's a compound."—Department of Justice.

The Department of Justice, backed up by the chemists of the Department of Agriculture, has decided that what is being sold to the American people as whisky is not the "goods." The Attorney-General intends to ask the Supreme Court about it. Not that the Supreme Court is supposed to be a judge of whisky, but it is paid for knowing the law, and it is to be asked what the pure food and drug act means any how.

William H. Hough, of St. Louis, attorney for the National Liquor Dealers' Association, has been in Washington for several days waiting for the filing of the suits. They have not been filed, but Hough got an intimation somewhere that the Department of Justice contemplated a coup in the way of seizure of (alleged) whisky in bond. Then he became very busy.

TO PROTECT STAMPS.

A visit to Secretary Cortelyou lined up the Treasury Department against the Law Department. The Treasury will protect its stamps. When the government inspector puts his "O. K." on a barrel that says it is whisky it's whisky—particularly as the distiller has paid for it on a whisky basis.

The Department of Justice, when asked if it contemplated confiscation (alleged) whisky in bond, said that it couldn't say just now what it would do. Dr. Wiley and his chemists still are fooling with this (so-called) whisky, and while all the legal papers preparatory to prosecution are in the Justice Department's hands, and the Department is eager to proceed the chemists are asking for a few days more with the (purported) whisky. It was intimated at the Department of Justice this afternoon that something was coming off and that is what Mr. Hough got wind of.

Assistant Attorney-General Sanford, who has charge of the Whisky Trust cases, expects to be able to announce a definite line of procedure within a few days.

In the meantime, the only certain thing about whisky, pure, alleged or purported, is that it will have the usual effect.

CALVE TONIGHT AT YE LIBERTY

First Appearance Here of World Famous and Brilliant Singer.

Oakland society and music lovers will be out in full force and in gala attire tonight at Ye Liberty Playhouse to welcome the first appearance in our city of Mlle. Emma Calve, one of the most famous and brilliant singers the world has ever known. The very name of Calve conveys a meaning to everyone who cares for music throughout the civilized world. One can work and study to become a fine pianist or a fine violinist and to sing well, but a voice like Calve's and a personality like her's are nature's, not acquired gifts.

At her concert tonight the great artist will be heard in at least a dozen or more songs in French, Spanish and English. She will be assisted by two famous French artists, Mlle. Renee Chemet, violinist, and Mons Camille Decreus, pianist.

While there has been a very large advance sale, there are still good seats to be had, and it is to be hoped that by 8 o'clock this evening every seat will be occupied.

The expense and risk of bringing such world-wide celebrities as Messrs. Bishop and Greenbaum have presented here during the past year is very great, and not only is of great educational value, but advertises Oakland all over the world. Since the engagement of Sara Bernhardt, Schumann-Heink and Mme. Nordica at Ye Liberty Playhouse, the city of Oakland has become heralded throughout the world as a music and art-loving community, and every artist coming to the United States now asks that Oakland be included in his or her itinerary. The citizens of Oakland will undoubtedly throng Ye Liberty Playhouse to welcome these world-wide celebrities.

In January these enterprising managers promise Jan Kubelik, the king of all violinists, and later Josef Hoffman, the wonderful pianist.

MR. BLAINE'S REQUEST TO GROVER CLEVELAND

Years ago, just two weeks after Grover Cleveland had been inaugurated President for the first time, James G. Blaine, his defeated opponent, went to the White House and into Cleveland's presence. It became known afterward that Blaine told Cleveland that he came to ask a favor, only one favor, of the administration. Then the defeated one told the President that he hoped sincerely that a certain man in Maine, a Democrat, would not be given the office that it was known he craved.

Blaine told Cleveland that the campaign of the summer and fall previous had been a campaign of personal abuse and of mud slinging in which neither party chief had a part and which both discountenanced. The Maine man whom Blaine wished to have denied the office that he sought was the man who in large part was responsible for certain stories concerning the early personal life of Blaine, which, even had they been true, never should have seen print.

Cleveland's answer to Blaine on that occasion was never known in its exact form, but this much was known, the Maine mud slinger asked for his office only to have his request met with point-blank denial.—Washington, Chicago Post.

MOST DANGEROUS OF ALL OF ACTOR'S ROLES

"One of the most difficult of dramatic roles to fill properly is that of a blind person," said an old player. "It is a terrible physical strain. I know an actor who for many months played the same part in a popular melodrama. Last week he resigned from the company and took a small role in another play. He either had to get out of that play or go blind. He acted the part of a blind man, and the constant strain on the muscles of his eyes came very near destroying his sight in earnest. He might have compromised, I suppose, by wearing glasses or resorting to some other stage device denoting blindness, but the stage manager would not allow that. He insisted upon the actor assuming that tense, sightless stare of the blind. The man stood it for months, but when oculists assured him that there was nothing on earth so likely to produce real blindness as the simulated affliction, he thought it time to quit.'

INVENTS FOOD WHEREBY COWS GIVE PURE CREAM

DERBY, Conn.—W. H. Gould, a Fairfield grocer, has invented and patented a food for milch cows which, he asserts, makes them give pure cream. The agitation of the cream while the cows are being driven home, followed by the operation of milking, turns the cream into butter. So, after the milking, it is necessary only to pour off the buttermilk and salt down the butter.

Gould thinks that if he adds a little pepsin to his cow-food, the cows will yield cream cheese. He is an inventive person. He tried to corner the egg market last spring by feeding hens a prepared food. But it made the hard-working hens lay themselves to death.

Bert Leslie at The Orpheum

'KING OF SLANG' SCORES HEAVILY

Orpheum Star Proves Himself to be "Classic" in His Chosen Specialty.

Slang in wholesale quantities, and high-class slang, so neatly coined that it had the appearance of stuff fresh from the mint, was delivered at the Orpheum yesterday afternoon to the big crowd which witnessed this presentation of the bill. Bert Leslie, "The King of Slang" was the party who delivered the precious stuff from the footlights. He certainly is "The King of Slang," and was proclaimed as such by the crowds yesterday. The Sunday afternoon and Sunday night throngs reveled in his wit and the unique lines with which the comedy sketch "Hogan's Visit" abounds.

Leslie scored heavily with the folks on the lower floor, and the gallery could not get enough of his fanciful language. There have been many who have tried to make a specialty of slang phrases in vaudeville, farce and comedy, elsewhere on the stage, but it has remained for Bert Leslie to make an art of this slang business, and he gave a suggestion of the "classic" to his cargo of slang. Plenty of cleverly devised situations were found in Leslie's sketch with which to create fun and the entire performance was as bright and keen as a new gold piece, from beginning to end. Maud Emery's toe dancing was one of the features of the act.

ACROBATIC WORK.

Trapeze work of a high order was performed by the three Urma sisters, who are billed as direct from London. The girls come of a family which for many years has been known for skill in this particular branch of acrobatic work, and they showed the effects of long training and constant practice. Pretty stage costumes and stage settings enhanced the attractiveness of their act, and made it one of the most pleasing features of th big vaudeville bill.

There was charm in the act of the three Westons, who are named on the program as musical queens. The Westons may or may not be queens—that is something which perhaps remains to be determined outside of the domain of this review, but there is no questioning the fact that the three Weston girls are mighty attractive maidens, girlish and with faces fresh and in manner demure, which, allied with the skill of trained musicians, made a combination that the Orpheum audiences heartily approved of yesterday. The Weston girls appear in short skirts and in a pretty parlor scene and proceed to show their talents as musicians, playing one instrument after another and from each evoking melody, closing their act with a trio on the cornet.

CABINET SEANCE.

Anna Eva Fay's work in answering questions of the multitude and in mystifying the crowds with her cabinet seance, continued to be one of the notable features of the vaudeville program.

Lotta Gladstone was "the girl with the laugh" just as in her first week, when she made her appearance in Oakland as a vaudeville star. The laugh proved as potent to all the crowds in merriment yesterday as ever in the past.

The O'Meers sisters from Berlin did an act on the high wire that was a revelation of the possibilities in this form of acrobatic work. The finish of the act, where they appeared in colonial costumes doing a minuet on the high wire, was very pleasing.

Otorito and her dancer from Spain gave a novel performance.

A lot of new Orpheum motion pictures were shown. The Orpheum orchestra, under the direction of Leon Kowalski, was, as usual, an attractive feature of the vaudeville bill, the selections being received with applause.

Supervisors Combine Parts of Elmhurst and Lockwood in Lincoln.

At the meeting of the board of supervisors this morning a resolution was adopted establishing the new Highland school district. This district has been formed out of a section of the Elmhurst and a section of the Lockwood school districts.

County Superintendent of Schools Frick stated that the law required that petitioners for a new school district include the parents or guardians of at least fifty census school children and that, in the proposed school district, there be at least there hundred census children. He further stated that there were in the part of Elmhurst to be taken 531 children and in the section of Lockwood district also to be taken there were 706 children.

A resolution was adopted ordering the clerk to advertise for thirty days, for proposals, an ordinance proposing to grant a franchise to E. M. Downer to erect poles and wires for the transmission of electricity along county roads and across public grounds in Alameda county, the franchise to extend over fifty years. The grant of this franchise is not to be considered exclusive, provided that such other franchises shall not interfere with the reasonable use of the franchise applied for. The grantee agrees to pay to the county of Alameda two per cent of the gross annual receipts arising from the use of the franchise after the franchise has been in operation five years.

VESSEL AT SEA SENDS MESSAGE OF DISASTER

Wireless Tells That Kroonland Has Broken Propeller Shaft.

PLYMOUTH, England, Dec. 9. — The steamer Kronprinz Wilhelm received a wireless telegram today from the Red Star line steamer Kroonland saying that this vessel had broken her propeller shaft, at a point to the westward of the Lizard, during a heavy gale.

The Kronprinz Wilhelm arrived here at 9:45 this morning from New York. The Kroonland, Captain Doxrud left Antwerp December 7, for New York.

TO TRANSFER PASSENGERS.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—A message to the New York offices of the Red Star line stated that the Kroonland had broken one of her twin propeller shafts when 442 miles out from Antwerp, bound to New York.

The Kroonland will probably reach Liverpool by tonight or early tomorrow. She carries forty-five cabin, 225 second cabin and 550 steerage passengers. These passengers, it was stated at the offices, will be transferred to the White Star line steamer Majestic, which will sail from Liverpool on Wednesday.

MISTAKES HYSTERIA FOR AN ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE

Rushes Pretty Woman to Hospital, Then Finds Mistake.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9.—Mrs. Reta Dunn, a pretty young matron who lives at 2042 Market street, was hurriedly taken to the Central Emergency Hospital this morning at the instance of her brother-in-law, Philip Dunn, of 25 Du Boce avenue, who thought that she had taken poison with suicidal intent.

It is said that Mrs. Dunn threatened to do away with herself and that at an early hour this morning she feigned unconsciousness, until the family were alarmed at her condition. At the hospital, however, it was found she was suffering from nothing more serious than a bad attack of hysteria.

TRIBUNE CLUB LOSES A GAME

The Tribune baseball team met its second defeat of the season at the hands of the Pensacola team at Goat Island Sunday afternoon by a score of 6 to 0. Although the score was one-sided it was a pretty exhibition of baseball. The Pensacola team played like clockwork, and not one man of the Tribunes was able to reach the coveted plate. The pitchers both did excellent work. The runs made by the Pensacolas were mostly made on errors by McCally.

The feature of the game was the great work at short of Grant Friel of the Tribune team. He made some wonderful stops of almost impossible chances, and altogether his work shows him to be a player with a brilliant future.

Jennings, shortstop of the Pensacolas, did some fast fielding and made a wonderful catch in the eight innings. The Tribunes were treated royally on the island and everything was done to make the boys feel at home.

Score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Pensacola	3	0	0	0	0	2	0	*		6

MISS ISABELLE FLETCHER STRICKEN BY PNEUMONIA

MISS ISABELLE FLETCHER.

Popular Leading Woman Seriously Ill

Miss Isabelle Fletcher, one of the popular leading women of Ye Liberty stock company and a favorite with Oakland theater-goers, is seriously ill, being confined to her apartments in the Athens Hotel. Miss Fletcher was stricken with pneumonia Saturday night and has been under the care of Dr. G. B. N. Clow.

Her illness, it is said, is of a very aggravated nature and friends fear that she will not recover. Miss Fletcher's physician has ordered that she shall not be disturbed under any consideration.

Miss Fletcher was to have taken part in "She Stoops to Conquer," which opens at Ye Liberty tomorrow evening. Her role has been assumed by Blanche Douglas, however.

Landers Stevens, one of the popular leading men at Ye Liberty, said in relation to Miss Fletcher's illness:

"Miss Fletcher is very ill, suffering from pneumonia. Fears are held out for her recovery, as the disease with which she has been stricken is of a serious nature."

ALAMEDA MAYOR FOR GOOD ROADS

He and Supervisor Bridge Promise to Put Fruitvale Avenue in Repair.

Mayor E. K. Taylor of Alameda made an effective appeal to the Board of Supervisors today for the purpose of having the county roads approaching that community put in good condition before the setting in of the rainy season so that the roads might not get into an entirely impassable condition. Incidentally, he took occasion to say that the city he represented had elegant thoroughfares, and that the people were anxious that there should be more resemblance between these streets with their finely-rounded surfaces and the roads to which they lead in the county. He also set forth that Alameda had expended money for the purpose of still further improving her highways, and proposed to continue to maintain her supremacy in that respect.

This announcement brought out from Supervisor Mitchell a compliment to the people of the island city to the effect that he was glad that Alameda had, at last, taken upon herself the task of repairing Webster street, which for years had, in winter, been in an almost impassable condition.

Mayor Taylor said that there were three very important main approaches to Alameda. These were Fruitvale avenue, High street and Park street. The parts of those thoroughfares in the county were now in an almost impassable condition. Thus far this season only a light rain had fallen and there was nothing, as a consequence of pleasure, in trying to drive over them. When the heavy rains came it would be almost impossible to make use of the roads at all. He felt if the county would only deposit a little rock on the surface and then roll that rock so that there would be sufficient of a crown to enable the water to run off the roads in question could be rendered passable until there could be more money provided for permanent improvement, sometime next year.

UP TO BRIDGE.

Supervisor Mitchell stated that the matter was entirely in the hands of Supervisor Bridge, in whose supervisorial district the streets were located. If Mayor Taylor would show the board how they could help Supervisor Bridge they would be willing to do it.

Mayor Taylor said that that was one of the reasons for which he came before the board. He thought that it was a matter for the board and not for one of the members to decide.

Supervisor Bridge stated that he was now filling the chuck holes. That was all that he could do at the present time. Later, when he got more money, he would permanently improve the streets. The people of Alameda had treated him well and he would not forget them. But a man could not do everything in a day. He had not, as yet, been a Supervisor for a year, in fact only about eleven months. It was a fact that the part of Fruitvale avenue which was within the bounds of Alameda was in about the same muddy condition as the portion of it which was out in the county. If Alameda would agree to improve that part of the thoroughfare he would agree to improve the county part of the road.

Mayor Taylor agreed to this proposition and offered to allow the county to use the Alameda street roller, but Supervisor Bridge declined the offer, claiming that the county had a roller of its own.

The conference then came to a close.

MARRIAGE WITH ACTOR ANNULLED

G. S. Best Said to Have Had Two Wives Before His Latest Wedding.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 9.—Miss Cecile Fleming, daughter of C. W. Fleming, a prominent local business man, today secured in the Superior Court an annulment of her marriage on October 5th last to George S. Best, an actor. It was proved in court that Best was married May 26, 1901, to Mrs. Bertha Nellilon and again on December 21, 1905, to Miss Anita Smith and that these ceremonies had never been annulled. Best is in the county jail charged with bigamy. Miss Fleming eloped with Best to Santa Ana and the couple were later apprehended in San Francisco.

Best is well known in Oakland, where he played in one of the local theaters.

CAR STRIKES BOY; FRACTURES HIS SKULL

(Special to The Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9.—While riding on an outbound car of the San Mateo line this morning, Robert Barland, a youth of seventeen years, and living at 1370 Twenty-fourth street, was knocked from the vehicle by a car going in the opposite direction at the corner of Thirteenth and Mission streets, receiving a compound fracture of the skull, from which he will probably die.

100 PAINTERS WILL GO OUT ON STRIKE

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9.—An attempt on the part of nine contracting painters to reduce the wages of journeymen painters 50 cents a day has led to the walkout of about one hundred men. The present schedule is $4.50 a day and according to H. F. Sheehan, financial secretary of local Painters' Union No. 19, William T. Beck, president of the Master Painters' Association is trying to reduce the present wage to $4.00 a day.

If the movement developes further, it may involve four unions in the fight—the Varnishers and Polishers' Union No. 134, Ship Painters' Union and No. 19, which is already having trouble.

What the employers have to say about the situation could not be ascertained, as their representative, William Beck, could not be found throughout the day.

Frank Knightly, a telegrapher, who lives at 1060 Dennison street, East Oakland, took a bad fall yesterday while attempting to jump from a moving street car at Twenty-third avenue. He fell upon his face and was dragged upon it some distance by the impact. He was removed to the Receiving Hospital, where Warden Page dressed a severe cut of the upper lip and attended to a number of slight abrasions.

MINES TO OPEN; WAGES LOWERED

Governor Sparks to Be in Goldfield When Work is Resumed.

GOLDFIELD, Nev., DNec. 9.—The mines of Goldfield are to be reopened on Thursday next. The wage scale is to be reduced. No members of the Western Federation will be given employment. Men will be brought here to the number of 500 to take the places of the strikers meanwhile.

Such is the decision of the executive committee of the Mine Owners' Association today. The change from Wednesday to Thursday was made to allow time to get men from other points here to replace strikers.

Governor Sparks will come to Goldfield on Thursday. The troops now here will be scattered through the camp and will practically guard the mines. The card system as used at Cripple Creek will be introduced, Frank A. Keith, general manager of the Tonopah Mining Company, and other prominent mining men from other camps are here in consultation with the Goldfield owners.

A street brawl took place on Main street at noon today when a member of the Western Federation called one of the officers of Uncle Sam's troops a vile name. "Diamondfield" Jack Davis, who was walking with the officer, grabbed the offender and held him until an officer arrived. An attempt to draw weapons was prevented by bystanders.

WOMAN DENIES IN DIVORCE CASE

Maria A. Boettcher, who was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from Albert K. Boettcher last June, today filed an affidavit in the county clerk's office opposing a motion to vacate the interlocutory decree.

Mrs. Boettcher denied that she came to an agreement with Boettcher after she brought her suit for a divorce to drop the proceedings.

She says the defendant had begged her to give him another chance, but she had refused and at no time agreed not to proceed with the divorce.

Mrs. Boettcher says that a short time ago she gave Boettcher $200 with the understanding that he would go away and leave her in peace. She said he came back, called her vile names and threatened her life with a revolver. One night, she alleges, she had to call in the police and two policemen stayed at her house all night for her protection.

She alleges that at the present time Boettcher is wanted by the police for cutting up a man's face.

POWERS' ATTORNEY GRILLS WITNESS

Seeks to Show That Golden Was Paid $5000 to Testify for State.

GEORGETOWN, Ky., Dec. 9.—The cross-examination of Wharton Golden, of Bouder, Colo., witness for the prosecution, was resumed today at Caleb Powers' trial.

For three hours, Golden was taken over his connection with the crime under rigid cross-examination by Judge Sims for the defense. Once or twice during the examination Golden almost broke down, pleading bad health for lack of memory.

The defense sought to show that his testimony was purchased and that he received $5000 to swear against Powers. Golden denied this. Asked why he had come to Kentucky eleven times from Colorado to testify in these cases, Golden said that it was done to ease his conscience.

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS SPECIAL HOLIDAY STATUTE

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9. — The special holiday statute, recently passed in extraordinary session of the legislature, to protect the banks, and at the same time provide for the business of the courts, was sustained this morning by the Supreme Court, which holds the new law constitutional.

The case passed on is that of Albert Risser, charged with a felony in Sacramento county. His trial was set for November 23, but his attorneys appealed to the Supreme Court for a writ of prohibition on the ground that their client could not be tried on a special holiday. Their contention was that there was no difference between a legal and a special holiday and that the courts could not sit in judgment during such periods.

The petition for this writ was denied this morning and the law which is attached, upheld. The higher tribunal declares the recent statute strictly within the limits of the constitution, and that it does not jeopardize the rights of any defendant.

BODY OF NOTED PIONEER TEACHER PASSES TO ASHES

The body of the late Professor Columbus Brier, who died Saturday at his home, 522 Twenty-second street, was cremated at the Oakland crematory at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Pallbearers were selected from among pupils of the decedent. They were: Vanderlynn Stow, George J. Henry Jr., Alfred Le Briton, Louis Gier and George Walter B. Coke.

The Rev. Charles R. Brown read the service.

In the death of Columbus Brier another familiar name is removed from roll of California teachers. Such men as former Governors James Budd and George C. Pardee, Attorney George Knight, Timothy Hopkins, Walter S. Hobart, Richard M. Hotaling, Vanderlynn Stow, Judge Troutt, Joseph D. Redding, the Sturo brothers and many others were students under him in times past.

Professor Columbus Brier was one of the best known educators in California. Forty years ago he was head instructor in the classical department of the Oakland College school, where he taught Latin and Greek to many students, including many men who have since become leaders in the political, professional and business life of the Pacific coast. Later he became identified with the Urban school of San Francisco, founded in 1863 by Professor A. A. Moore, where for thirty years he continued to labor in the cause of education until about two months ago, when he felt his strength failing. His condition rapidly grew worse until Saturday, when his death occurred, following an operation for appendicitis.

PIONEER FAMILY.

The Briers was one of the pioneer families to reach California by way of the Death Valley trail. Professor Brier's father was a Baptist clergyman who brought his wife and children across the plains in mule team before the discovery of placer gold here had startled the world.

Columbus Brier early qualified himself as a teacher and entered upon educational work when a young man. The list of students who have in past years received instructions from him numbers thousands, and includes many Mexicans who were sent here to be educated when the French invaded Mexico. Professor Brier was considered rightfully one of the most capable teachers of mathematics on the Pacific coast and refused many tempting offers to leave the Urban school for other institutions.

For the past fifteen years Professor Brier had lived at the family home at 522 Twenty-second street, and was exceedingly happy and contented until the loss of his daughter, Martha Anette Brier, some two years ago. Miss Brier was a teacher in the San Francisco public schools, and following her death Professor Brier brooded greatly. He was 68 years old, and leave a widow, one son and two daughters.

FIRES AT CROWD; 1 DEAD; 1 HURT

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 9.—Firing several shots at a group of workmen in front of the Hyppolite Screen Door and Sash Company, 638 Maple avenue, a man standing on the porch of the rooming house at 632 Maple avenue, killed A. W. Wethern, who lived at 317 East Seventh street, and seriously wounded A. B. Hartman, 1043 South Olive street, shortly after noon today.

Sam Miller, who lives at Compton avenue and Fifty-ninth street, ten minutes later identified Joseph de Plaa, the proprietor of the rooming house next to the factory, and who was standing in the crowd of spectaters around the building, as the man who did the shooting and De Puaa was arrested and taken to the central station much agitatted, but protesting innocence.

"It happened just after we had seated ourselves in front of the building to eat out noonday lunch," said Miller. "I turned just in time to see De Plaa begin firing. He fired three shots. At the first shot Wethern, who was nearest De Plaa, fell over with a groan, the blood spurting from a wound in his side.

"Then Hartman yelled that he had been shot, and turned and ran, but fell over.

"Then I ran around the building to the rear, afraid that he would kill me also."

TO FILE PETITION FOR A RECEIVER

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9.—Judge Dunne after postponing the cases of Brown and Bartnet of the California Safe Deposit Company, signed the warrant for the arrest of President David F. Walker and the paper was placed in the hand of Detective Mulcahey, who will leave this afternoon for Santa Barbara, where Walker is now in custody.

Attorney General U. S. Webb will file the petition asking for the appointment of a receiver to take charge of the affairs of the California Safe Deposit & Trust Company this afternoon. All the stockholders in the bank will be made parties to the suit, as the receiver will later bring suits to compel each stock-holder to put up his pro-rata to make good the liabilities of the bank.

"I believe," said General Webb, "Tthat the depositors will receive much more than has thus far been stated. How much this will be, I cannot venture to say. The receiver, when he is apointed will convert all the investments of the bank into cash. In this he is expected to use his discretion, as it is not necessary for him to sell anything today for less than he can get for the same property tomorrow. But just as rapidly as the investments are converted into cash, the depositors will get their money. They will not be paid all at once, but will receive their money in installments."

SAY HIS COURT WON'T HURT BOYS

"Juvenile offenders must be arraigned before me in the criminal court. I do not think it submersive to the morals of the boys if they are brought into this court. I hold it unconstitutional to have the youthful offenders brought before me out of the regular time for the calling of the criminal calendar."

PLUCKY GIRL SAVES FAMILY

WOMAN IS SHOT DEAD IN HALLWAY OF EMPLOYER

Portuguese Enemy Fires Six Shots From Revolver, Two of Which Plough Into Victim's Body.

(Special to the Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9. — Mrs. Mary Vincent, a domestic employed in the rooming house at 311½ Montgomery avenue, was shot and instantly killed by a Portuguese at noon today.

Mrs. Vincent, who is separated from her husband, the latter being in Honolulu, was cleaning the hallway of the house this morning when the Portuguese, with whom she has had several quarrels of late, approached her. An angry altercation followed, and the man then drew a revolver and fired six shots, at least two of which took effect.

The woman sank to the floor dead, while the murderer escaped to the street and has not been seen since.

As near as can be found out at this time there were no witnesses to the shooting, but a man who gives his name as Harry Stewart, claims to have seen the man running from the scene.

The police claim to know the identity of the Portuguese and Detective Bunner, who is working on the case, expects to land him before night.

REDLANDS GIRL SHOOTS HERSELF

Daughter of Well Known Contractor Commits Suicide With Pistol.

REDLANDS, Dec. 9.—Afflicted with an illness to which she had been subject since a child, Miss Genevieve Ellsworth, the twenty-four-year-old daughter of a well-known Redlands contractor, placed a pistol to her temple and fired a shot which resulted in her death an hour later.

Yesterday there was a family gathering at the home and she had been in unusual good spirits throughout the day.

The family resided at 221 East Citrus avenue. They came from San Francisco, where Miss Ellsworth was born.

FIGHTS FIRE AS PARENTS SLEEP

BADLY BURNED BY EXPLOSION

Seven-Year-Old Lass With Her Mother's Aid Puts Out Flames in Home.

BERKELEY, Dec. 9. — Delay in touching a match to the gas range after she had turned on the gas this morning resulted in an explosion which set the house ablaze and severely burned the face and eyes of little Edna Nelsen the seven-year-old daughter of H. P. Nelsen of 2240 Grove street. The fire occurred at 7:15 this morning, and the call was responded to by fire companies 2, 4 and 5. Neighbors who rushed to the aid of the Nelsen family had already extinguished the flames by the time the firemen arrived on the scene, but it was due most of all to the efforts of the plucky little girl and her mother that a disastrous conflagration was averted.

FLAMES SPREAD.

The flames leaping in all directions from the stove, set fire to lace curtains and a lounge near by and for a short time it looked as though the entire house would soon be enveloped in flames. With eyes blinded and face smarting from the pain, little Edna retained her presence of mind and roused the family who were still asleep in another part of the house. Mrs. Nelsen was ill in bed, but rushed to her daughter's rescue, the father being too ill to get up. Together they began to beat out the flames, with rugs, quilts and whatever they could find. A hose was run in from the garden and with this they fought the blaze. Neighbors turned in the fire alarm and soon with the aid of a half a dozen outsiders the fire was extinguished. The damage to the building and furniture is estimated to be about $250.

FIGHTS FOR LIFE WITH MEN HE TRIES TO ARREST

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9.—A desperate fight ensued this morning when Policeman William Casey arrested Robert Constable and Harry Balderion on Jackson street, near East. The policeman nearly gave his life in performing his duty. The men, when commanded to halt, turned on Casey, trying to strike him to the ground. Casey had drawn his revolver before approaching the men, and during the scuffle struck Balderion across the head, and before he regained consciousness snapped handcuffs on Constable, and soon had both men on the way to the Harbor police station.

At the police station a revolver and black-jack were found on Constable. Balderion had a mask in his pocket. From the description of the men it is thought they are men who recently burglarized the home of Mrs. Mary Cox, stealing $40.

The men are also supposed to have robbed a store in South San Francisco. Policeman Casey was patrolling his beat at an early hour this morning when he noticed the two men. Their actions aroused his suspicions and he decided to make an investigation. He came up behind them on Jackson street commanding them to halt. Instead of submitting to arrest they showed fight. When policeman Casey came close enough Constable grabbed him. Like a flash the second man jumped on the policeman. Then a hard fight followed. Casey had has gun in his hand and a blow laid one man low, thus saving Casey's life and enabling him to handcuff the prisoners. The police claim to have a confession from Constable.

Shot From Hunters' Guns Endanger Lives

ALAMEDA, Dec. 9.—Numerous residents on the south shore have complained to the police that their lives are endangered by hunters who, in boats near shore, discharge their guns in the direction of the houses. Several times windows have been broken by the bird shot. The residents have asked that police protection be given them and that the ordinance which forbids shooting within the limits of the city be enforced.

ACCUSES AGED MAN OF SERIOUS CRIME

Aged, crippled and on the verge of the grave, Thomas Baker, 70 years old, was taken before Judge Melvin this morning upon an attempted criminal assault. He is accused by 10-year-old Pearl Taylor. The man had to be helped to the courtroom from his cell in the County Jail, and after being brought to the bar had to be helped to a chair. To questions put to him he failed to answer, and it was discovered then that in addition to his weakness he was hard of hearing. Not having an attorney, Judge Melvin continued the case one week.

The County Jail attendants state that the man is absolutely helpless. He has to be helped every time he has to make a move. It is expected that he will be discharged from custody.

CELEBRATE MASS FOR OLD PIONEER

Last of Direct Line in America of Noted Spanish Family.

The High Requiem mass for the repose of the soul of the late Augustin Galindo was celebrated at Sacred Heart Church yesterday by the Rev. Laurence Serda pastor of the church. Many friends sent token of love and esteem for the pioneer and more beautiful floral offerings have seldom been seen.

The pall-bearers were all old friends and associates. They were Messrs. Michel, J. C. McAdams, Le Pearl, McIntyre, P. Kerney and Almquist.

Galindo was the last of the old family of that historic name. He was born in Santa Clara over eighty years ago. He lived for some years in Concord, moving from there to Oakland where he has resided for the last twenty years.

Ten children and a wife survive him. They are: Mrs. Sinforosa Galindo, Mrs. Marie Warden of Livermore, Avelin Galindo, Salome and Solomon Galindo, Mrs. Sinforosa Wilson of Lakeport, C. M. and F. B. Galindo, J. D. and A. J. Galindo. There are five children dead.

Galindo belonged to a long-lived race. His father died at the age of 106, from injuries received from a fall from a horse. Up to his last illness he had been in perfect health and had never taken medicine in his life.

There were four generations present at the funeral and twenty-five direct descendants.

The Galindo family was one of the original Spanish settlers in California and once owned and used as pasture land much of what is now the finest residence property in the city.

Augustin Galindo was the son of Don Juan Galindo, a member of the expedition sent out under Colonel Don Juan Bautista de Auza, from Spain, in 1775, to establish the Presidio of San Francisco. He was a grandson of Don Pedro Galindo, who in 1770 was appointed Commandante-General of the International Province of New Spain. His father, Don Juan Galindo, served thirty-nine years as an officer in the army of Spain.

ARRANGE TO SHORTEN TRIAL OF PETTIBONE

Attorneys on Both Sides Agree as to Evidence.

BOISE, Idaho, Dec. 9.—By agreement of attorneys for the State and defense in the Pettibone case today, the trial was continued until tomorrow morning, when the opening statement for the prosecution will be made by James P. Hawley. The postponement was agreed to partially because Senator Borah cannot reach the city until tonight, and partially that a stipulation between the State and defense as to certain evidence may be drawn. This stipulation will provide that the testimony on the explosion in the Bradley residence at San Francisco given at the Haywood trial shall be admitted as evidence in the Pettibone trial.

It is understood that the testimony of a number of Colorado witnesses will also be covered in the stipulation. By this proceedure the trial will be greatly shortened an each side spared the expense of bringing witnesses from other States.

GUSTAVE V NOW KING OF SWEDEN, VICE DEAD OSCAR

Gustave V, the New King of Sweden

Venerable Ruler Who Passed to His Reward Sunday Is Peaceably Succeeded by Eldest Son.

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 9.—At a meeting of the council of state this afternoon the new king took the oath of allegiance under the title of Gustave V, and adopted the motto, "With the people of the Fatherland." The princess then took the oath of allegiance and the new monarch accepted the homage of the state officials.

The new king, Gustave, much resembles his father in gigantic stature and in light Saxon blonde features. The young monarch is not unused to the cares of state, as he has frequently acted as regent during the illness and absence of his father, and has displayed good sense and ability. He is personally much liked here and at other capitals, where he is regarded as having his father's characteristics of sincerity and simplicity.

Gustave, the new ruler of Sweden, was born in the castle of Drottingham. Immediately after his birth he was made Duke of Verland. He pursued his studies from 1877 to 1878 at Upsala. In 1879 he traveled abroad, visiting almost all the countries of Europe. In 1889 he returned a second time to the university at Upsala.

He entered the army in 1875 and in 1892 he was given the rank of general lieutenant. In 1896 he served as inspector of the military schools, and in 1898 he was made a full general. Between the years 1884 and 1891 Gustave filled the office of vice-king of Norway. As a result of Gustave's persistent and strenuous efforts to hold the Swedish-Norwegian union together, he earned the enmity of the radical majority in the Norwegian Storthing and in retaliation the Storthing took away from him a yearly appanage amounting to $12,500.

King Gustave's son, Wilhelm, Duke of Sonsermanland, born June 17, 1884, visited the United States last summer.

FUNERAL DELAYED.

The body of King Oscar, who died Sunday, has been embalmed. The necessary arrangements for the funeral probably will necessitate delaying the ceremony for a fortnight. Queen Victoria, wife of King Gustave, arrived here this morning.

KING OSCAR'S DEATH.

Oscar II, king of Sweden, died at 9:10 o'clock Sunday morning. The death of the venerable monarch occurred in the royal apartment of the palace, where he was surrounded by the members of his family, including the aged queen, Sophia, and the crown prince, Oscar Gustave, and high minister of state, while outside the palace great crowds stood with bowed heads and tearful eyes, long after the announcement came of the death of their well-loved sovereign.

Official bulletins were posted Sunday announcing that his majesty had passed away at 9:10 a. m. The death certificate being as follows:

"We declare upon oath that his majesty, King Oscar II, expired peacefully at 9:10 o'clock this morning in the castle at Stockholm, at the age of 78 years, 9 months, 17 days, as the result of calcification of the cerebral and cardiac blood vessels."

THE DEAD KING.

Oscar II, King of Sweden, and previous to 1905 King of Sweden and Norway, was born January 21, 1829. He was the third son of King Oscar I, and of Queen Josephine, daughter of Prince Eugene of Leuchtenberg, and grandson of Marshal Bernadotte. Oscar II succeeded to the throne at the death of his brother, King Carl XIV, September 18, 1872. He was married June 6, 1857, to Queen Sophia, daughter of the late Duke William of Nassau. Four children survive King Oscar—Crown Prince Gustave, born June 16, 1858; Prince Oscar Bernadotte, Prince Carl and Prince Eugene.

An event of international importance in the life of King Oscar was his arbitration of the Samoan claims adjudged the American and British governments to be responsible for the fighting in the Samoan Islands in in 1899. He also attained prominence at the time of the Venezuelan dispute, which caused friction between the United States and Great Britain in 1896.

King Oscar was called the ablest ruler of the nineteenth century and the most democratic king that ever lived.

In appearance, however, King Oscar was every inch a king, and there was no monarch in Europe who was more stately and more regal in bearing than was he. In height King Oscar stood six feet, two inches.

The death of King Oscar was not expected to be followed by any serious disturbances of Sweden's political condition. All precautions had been taken for the orderly passage of power to the hands of his son and successor, Oscar Gustave Adolpe, Duke of Verland.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES DEFEAT LICENSE

Officers of Melrose District With Others Think Two Saloons Enough.

At the meeting of the Board of Supervisors this morning the application of George Pellegrini for a saloon at the corner of Pine and Cherry streets was denied at the instance of Supervisor Bridge on the showing made by two protests which were filed against the granting of the request.

One of these protests was signed by R. H. Roane, W. F. Floyd and Joseph Damm, trustees of the Melrose grammar school district, and set forth the following:

"Two permits have been granted during the past year, which, we think, will be sufficient for a long time to come. The location of this saloon, if a license were granted, would be in the midst of a thickly settled community and a hundred children pass on their way to and from school on each school day to the school house which is less than two blocks away. We believe additional saloons will not add to the morals of the community or the value of property."

The other remonstrance was signed by George Luke and seven others.

"We believe," said the signers, "that the two saloons already established in that neighborhood are amply sufficient for the number of residents in said district and it is the wish of the majority of said residents that at the present time, at least, no further licenses should be granted.

"We also clai mthat a good many people who signed the petition of said George Pellegrini either do not live in said neighborhood and have, therefore, no direct interest in the matter or they are not citizens or taxpayers."

The protests were filed.

NORWEGIANS, TOO, MOURN FOR KING

Pastor Christensen Says Death of Oscar II Causes Sorrow to His Countrymen.

Speaking of the death of King Oscar II of Sweden, the Rev. M. A. Carlstensen, Norwegian and pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church on Athens avenue, said:

"The announcement of King Oscar's death will be received with sorrow not only by the Swedes, but also by the 2,000,000 Norwegians in this country. It seems but yesterday when he was King of the Norwegians' fatherland and his death will revive that filial love and loyalty with which the Norwegians cherished their monarch.

"In the late political upheaval in Norway it was not a question of the royal person, for King Oscar was every inch a King, a scholar, a gentleman and a Christian, but it involved the independence of Norway and the right to assert that independence on land and sea, at home and abroad. The King became the innocent victim in the midst of these events. By one of those peculiar strokes of destiny by which one man is lifted up into universal glory and another suppressed and set aside, King Oscar lost for a while the love of the Noarwegian people. But his memory will be cherished in the Norwegian heart till the end of time. His death will be mourned on both sides of the Atlantic.

"He was unquestionably next to the late King Christian the IX of Denmark, the most popular and devoted monarch of the past century."

The ball player finally got his 10-gauge shotgun into action and killed the animal at the first shot. He skinned the cat and is now busy at his home, 1513 Ninth avenue, curing the hide.

Failure of the California Safe Deposit and Trust Company.

While the recent failure of many Eastern banks was clearly due to the shortage of coin in circulation and general stringency in the money market, which made it impossible to convert absolutely sound securities into cash, that cannot be said to be in any way responsible for the failure of the California Safe Deposit and Trust Company of San Francisco. The investigation instituted by the committee of depositors into the affairs of the bank reveals the indisputable fact that its failure is due to nothing else but rotten financiering and downright dishonesty. The resources of the bank and the money of its 12,000 or 13,000 depositors were boldly taken by its officers to finance wildcat enterprises promoted by themselves. Large sums of money were also loaned on stocks of doubtful value to enterprises in which they were themselves largely interested. The president of the bank was loaned $750,000 on his personal note. Large sums were loaned to irresponsible clerks employed in the offices of some of the officers without security. It was doing business with a reserve of only 5 per cent when the law required 20 per cent in reserve. Furthermore, railroad bonds and other valuable securities belonging to the Colton estate, valued at $205,000, which were held by the bank in trust, by order of court, have been diverted by the bank's vice-president, who was administrator of the estate, and the general manager of the institution, and no one seems to be able to get any trace of the property. A more pronounced case of bank wrecking and looting has not been exposed in this State or elsewhere for a long time. Even Joseph Duncan's wrecking of the Pioneer Land and Loan Company, a quarter of a century ago, was a small affair compared to the manner in which the California Safe Deposit and Trust Company, which strangely enough occupies the premises in which Duncan's wildcat bank was quartered, has been looted and wrecked. If what has been done by the officers of this bank is not felonious, it certainly should be made so.

The failure of this bank is not in any sense due to the financial stringency of the times, but to downright dishonest methods of banking and the grossest breaches of trust. Other banking institutions have suffered inconvenience, of course, through the stringency in the money market, and the temporary difficulty of disposing of gilt-edged securities to strengthen their coin reserves, but there can be no question about their absolute solvency and soundness. The exposure of the affairs of the California Safe Deposit and Trust Company shows, however, that it has been rotten to the core for years and that the men who have been in control of it have been recklessly using the money of its depositors in some of the wildest kind of enterprises in which they were chiefly interested.

William Chauncey Bartlett.

A vigorous, useful personality was lost when William Chauncey Bartlett, known to the editorial fraternity of the past generation as "Deacon" Bartlett, passed away. He was a man of robust individuality and indefatigable public spirit. He was forever driving or pushing along the car of progress. His aggressive mental and moral integrity was allied to a warm sympathy with the human side of life and the beauties of nature. To kick a dog or deface a tree in his presence was sure to provoke an energetic expression of righteous wrath.

In his later years he was identified with the government forestry work, and rendered conspicuous service as the head of the San Jacinto reserve.

Mr. Bartlett was educated for the law, but subsequently entered the ministry, and finally abandoned the pulpit but not the cause of religion for the editorial profession. He was a strong and prolific writer on a great variety of topics. Every line he wrote bore the impress of his personality and method of thought. He was militantly a clean, honest man—wholesome, stout-hearted and optimistically sincere.

He came to California in 1860, being then forty-two years of age, and for forty-five years thereafter was an ardent worker. The missionary spirit was in his New England blood and abode with him to the last. For many years he was an editorial writer on the San Francisco press, and for a long period wrote the leaders for THE TRIBUNE. In every employment he was loyal to his convictions and faithful to his ideals. He detested policy and would never compromise a principle. He was certainly a good man who strove to make the world brighter, better and happier.

J. Dalzell Brown adopted heroic measures to boost his friend and leader in civic reform, Rudolph Spreckels, into the Bohemian Club. Mr. Spreckels should now in common gratitude bail Brown out of jail. One good turn deserves another as much as birds of a feather flock together.

BEST DRESSED MAN IN BRITISH PARLIAMENT

Opinions are fairly evenly divided as to who is the best-dressed man in the House of Commons. While the most critical cannot find fault with the elegant fit and cut of Mr. "Lulu" Harcourt's attire, some profess even greater admiration for Viscount Valentia's dark morning coat, dove-colored tweed trousers and white gaiters, a costume by which this Irish peer has been known for years. A lesson on how to dress, however, can always be learned from the appearance of George Wyndham, whose frock coat has been described in the old term—immaculate. Among the literary lights of the House of Commons Sir Gilbert Parker, A. E. W. Mason and Hilaire Belloc have all three found tailors who thoroughly understand the art of making a man look his best, while it is generally granted that Sir John Lawson Walton, K. C., is the best-dressed man of the law. Turning to the House of Lords, there is little to choose between the Earl of Crews and Lord Althorp, the Lord Chamberlain. As "Bobby" Spencer, however, Lord Althorp was known as the "masher of Parliament," and is still regarded as among the first of parliamentary dandies.—London Tidbits.

THE LATE MRS. EDSON.

When Lucy Seaver married William Edson and was able to have calling cards with "Mrs. William Edson" engraved upon them, she felt that life has no higher pride in store for her. She preserved this attitude through all the years of her married life.

When Mr. Edson died she was inconsolable, and even after several years of widowhood she hotly resented any indication that her friends had forgotten her lamented William for one moment.

"It makes me so angry," she said to one whom she suspected of carelessness in the matter, "to be spoken of or thought of as 'Mrs. Lucy Edson.' It is an insult to William's memory."

"Oh, I'm sure it's never meant for that," said the friend hastily. "Only it's quite customary among certain people, you know, for a widow to take her Christian name, have letters addressed to her in that way, and so on."

"It will never be with me," said the widow in dignantly. "I prefer always to be known as the late Mrs. William Edson."—Judge's Companion.

LOVING CUP FOR HELEN GOULD.

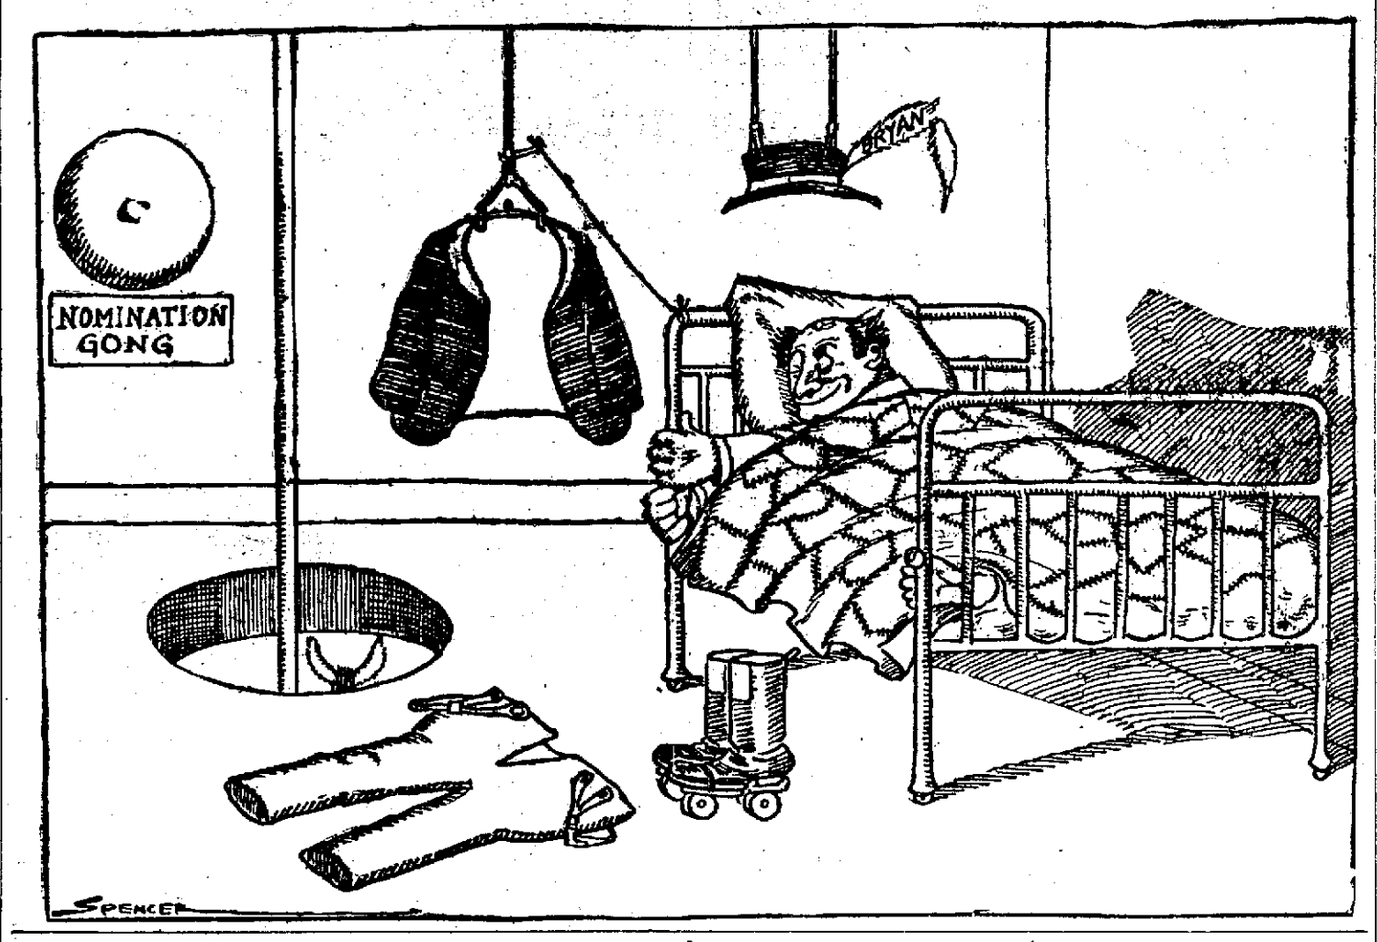

Let the sailors, or others, give to Helen Gould all the loving cups they will, they cannot give to her more than she deserves. She is the one member of the Jay Gould family, in all its generations, who has earned the love of the people everywhere. This daughter of a queer father has extended a hand unto the world in love and mercy, and wherever she has gone the voice of those who bless her has been heard. Just how she happens to be in that family is one of the problems of life that are not readily answered. Perhaps there was a good mother, a kindly and unselfish ancestor, a——. But it really does not matter; the cardinal fact is that here is a good and noble woman and the world is the better for her living. Yes, Helen Gould has merited any loving cup that may come her way, and she should know that the world realizes it.

TERSE COMMENT BY PRESS OF THE COUNTRY

ALL READY FOR ANOTHER "SLIDE FOR LIFE"

Pension Fund for Firemen.

THE TRIBUNE'S fund for the relief of the widow of Edward Brandt, the fireman who was recently killed while in the performance of his duty, has passed the $1000 mark. But that the raising of such a fund had to be done by private contributions concentrates public attention on the fact that the fire department is not equipped, as the police department is, with a pension fund, on which an officer who has been retired, whether through disability or age limit, may draw half pay, or an insurance fund, from which the heirs of deceased officers draw $1000 at the time of death. And yet the lives of firemen are put in jeopardy quite as frequently if not oftener than those of the members of the police department. The police insurance fund has, of course, been established by law and it was created and is being maintained by the deduction of $2 per month from the salary of every member of the force. But the benefit of it has been repeatedly demonstrated.

If something of the same kind were organized for the benefit of the fire department, it would doubtless help to elevate the morale of the department, for if there were a disability fund, firemen would then have the satisfaction at least of knowing that they would not be dependent on charity in the event of being disabled while in the performance of duty, or that those dependent upon them for their support would not be unprovided for in the event of death. Nor would there be any reason, as now exists, to call upon generous citizens to contribute to a fund to keep the wolf from the door of the worthy widow of a man who had sacrificed his life in the performance of his duty and while endeavoring to save the property of others from destruction.

The passage of an ordinance to clean the sidewalks of business stands is to be commended. SULTAN OF MORROCO IS SAID TO BE FRENCHMAN

It is not generally known that the Sultan of Morocco, with whom France is having so much trouble at the present moment, has French blood in his veins, for he is descended from a Corsican girl, Davia Francheschini, who was captured by Barbary pirates in 1792. The girl was only about 12 years old whe she was sold at Fez to one of the Sultan Ministers, but she was so pretty and so skilful in embroidery work that the Minister thought it wise to make a present of her to his master. The Sultan took her into his harem and in due time she bore him a son, who afterward became Sultan of Morocco and the direct ancestor of the actual sovereign. This fact may perhaps account for the very strong leaning which Abd-ul-Aziz has for European ——London Opinion.

WOMEN IN PRISON.

Another pleasing census report is that relating to women prisoners. In 1880 women formed 8.5 per cent of prisoners in the United States; in 1890, 7.8 per cent and in 1904, 5.5 per cent. The decrease is general throughout the country. The Woman's Journal comments on this fact: "An article has lately been circulated by the opponents of equal rights, asserting that the larger education and emancipation of women in modern times have damaged the feminine character. Statistics do not bear out the claim."

For the proper upkeep of modern schools and colleges in Chekland province the high authorities at Hankshow have ordered an extra tax on raw and manufactured silk. This extra impost is very unpopular, and it is probable that enforced strikes and riots may occur. The lower officials are therefore hesitating in the matter.

Says Foraker Is Himself an Impossibility but He May Beat Secretary Taft

Senator Foraker formally announces his purpose to be a candidate for the Presidency. It means first, that he will contest Ohio with Taft. Second, that he will be backed by all the trusts, syndicates, rebaters, plungers, wealthy malefactors and predatory delinquents in the country. The whole brood will support him for the nomination, Democrats as well as Republicans; and should he be nominated, they will support him in the election, unless they can corrupt the Democratic party in making a nomination as satisfactory to them. It is conceivable that they might support Bryan as against Taft, and they certainly would against Roosevelt, should he be the candidate. But now they will devote all their efforts to support of Foraker.

To Taft Foraker will be formidable in Ohio, and at least will divide the State in the convention with him, for Foraker is behind a very powerful political machine which will fight for the position it holds in State and National affairs and it holds power in many of the cities of Ohio. Under the district system the supporters of Foraker are sure to elect many delegates to the National Convention. They can have small hope of the nomination of Foraker, but they hope to beat Taft and to prevent the nomination of any candidate favorable to the Roosevelt Administration or to its policies.

Foraker, indeed, has boldly outlined his policy. It is that of opposition to regulation of the railroads, of abandonment of the effort to limit abuses of organized capital, with condemnation of the rate and rebate laws and of the part the Administration has taken in pushing their enactment and execution. To this legislation and to enforcement of it he attributes the money and industrial panic; which is the same thing, exactly, as if his declaration had been concerted with the plunderers, in their offices in New York, and sent forth to the world with the stamp of each and all of their signet rings.

A tub to the whale Mr. Foraker does throw, in the remark that "there must be supervision of railroads and of interstate commerce, of course," but "it must be sane and conservative." This means that the regulation must take such form as the railroad managers and rebaters would approve. We have had their "sane and conservative" management all these years, with results of continuous plunder and oppression on one hand and of favoritism, rebating and creation of combinations of vast wealth on the other. We shall hear now for a while, through voices like those of Foraker, that the interruption this system of organized plunder is what has produced the present crisis and is ruining the country. It is on this assumption that he goes before the country as a candidate for the Presidency.

Possibly his effort, backed by the plutocrats and predatory classes, may beat Taft. We may rather look for that result. It might bring the nomination to Hughes.

That would be a proper, though unintended consequence. It might, however, be a chief factor in forcing the offer of the nomination upon Roosevelt again. For if the plutocratic backers of Foraker shall be able to put up a strong fight for him, based as it will be on bitter attacks upon Roosevelt and upon his efforts to curb predatory wealth, they will bring it about that the people will have nobody but impossibility. The money magnates will not be able to nominate him. Or if, by any power of combination with politicians they should be able to do so, it would make the country smile to imagine what kind of a race he would make against Bryan. —Portland Oregonian.

Wants a Southern Man for a Democratic Nominee for President

For years the South has cast its solid strength for the Democratic nominee for President of the United States, and for forty years that nominee has come from the East, the North or the West.

For forty years, with one single exception, no Democratic nominee has been an occupant of the White House.

During this period the South has stood with solid ranks and seen nearly every state, North, East and West, change from one party to the other, giving its vote where it would. If, during this period the South has uniformly furnished the candidates, would not the cry go up from the other section for a change?

Grant, if you please, that Bryan is the only man in the Democratic party with enough wisdom, intelligence and integrity to make a satisfactory President. Is there any reason why the South should not for once be granted the privilege of the empty honor of candidacy?

During forty years the South has uncomplainingly followed the leadership dictated by Northern ideas. Is she to go on doing this forever, without even the opportunity to see the result of a different policy?

Southern men and Southern policies are regarded with more respect in many portions of the North than they are at home. It is human nature to lift the eyes when looking at distant objects. We overlook the good things immediately about us, while we strain our eyes to magnify the small things at a distance. The statesman with whose daily life we are familiar is less apt to appear as a great man to us than is the statesman whom we only know through the headlines of the newspapers.

A good, honest, substantial Southern statesman will look just as large to a Northern voter, viewed through the intervening vista of space, as the kind of statesman the North has been putting forth as presidential timber has looked to Southern voters.

The South, holding more than the balance of power, has the opportunity to control this matter.—Chattanooga Star.

STRANGE CASE OF DUAL PERSONALITY

Changes From Bright Modern Girl to Prehistoric Monkey Maiden Crying Out Strange Gibberish.

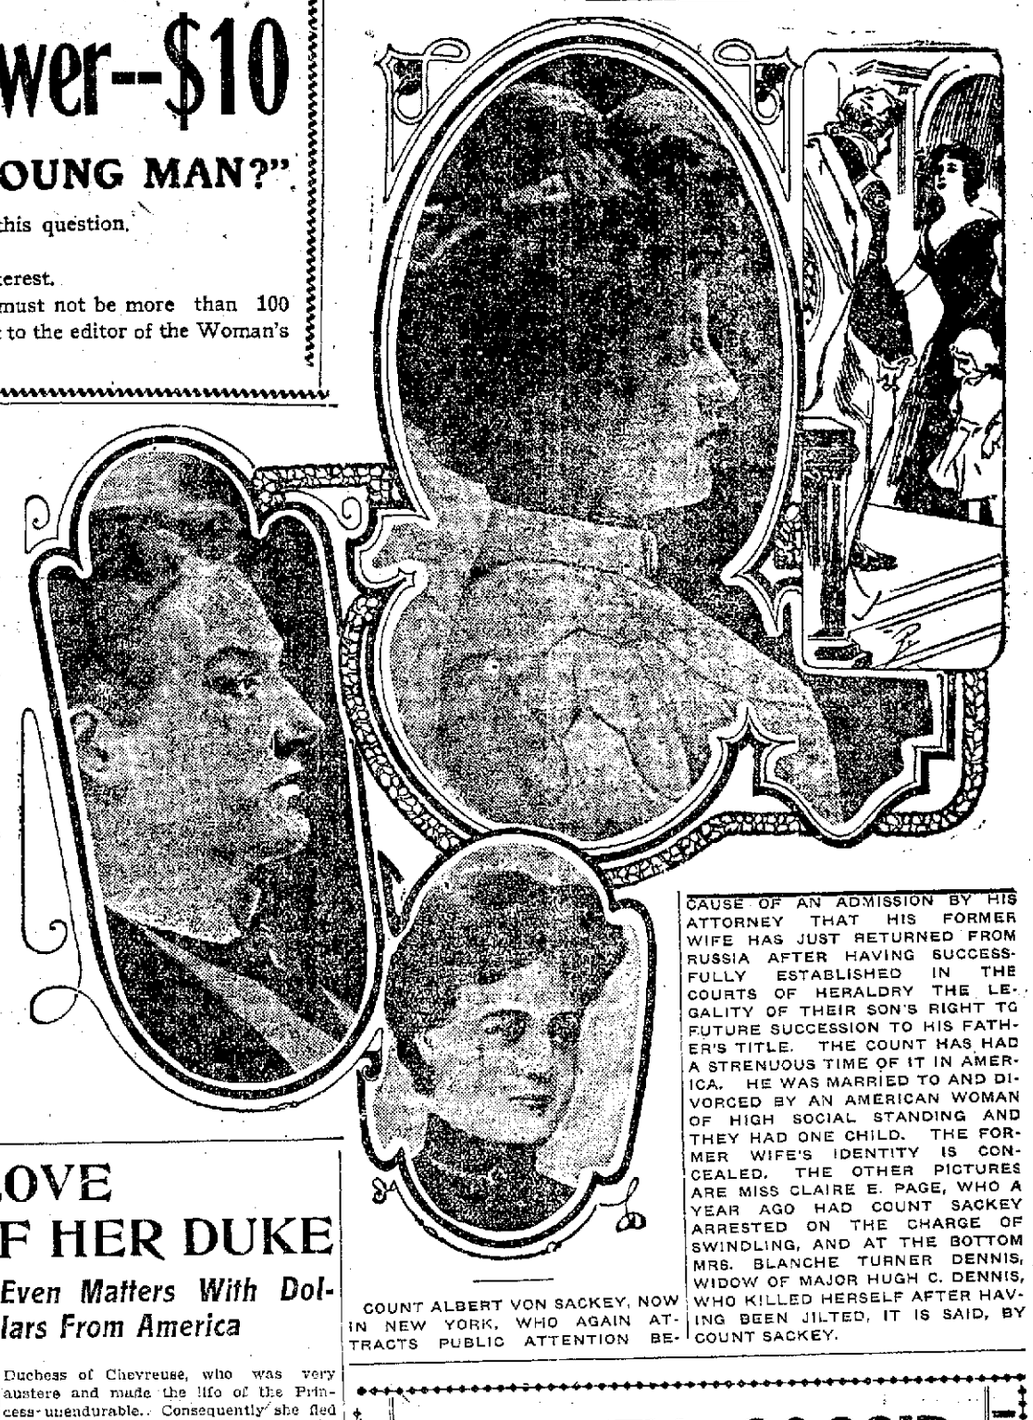

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 9.—The police of St. Louis have never come in contact with a case equal to that of Mrs. Susan Edwards McGee, a young woman who believes she has dual personality and who is held on a charge of stealing jewels from a home, where she was employed as a maid.

This maid is not only an author but a mathematician, a pronounced agnostic, and a brilliant conversationalist. The hospital physicians are unable to decide whether she is insane or not.

Mrs. McGee is 23 years old, but appears to be no more than 20. She was divorced three years ago. The girl has written for magazines under the name of Alexander Watson.

In explaining her dual personality the prisoner says that in lightning time she changes from an up to date girl, lover of books, mathematical problems and religion to a prehistoric maiden, who sits in a cave and talks monkey gibberish.

MISS SHONTS FELL IN LOVE WITH PORTRAIT OF HER DUKE

De Chaulnes Has Gambled Away $50,000 BUT HE HOPES TO Even Matters With Dollars From America

All Paris is talking of the approaching marriage of Miss Theodora Shonts and the Duke of Chaulnes. French society is divided into two camps over it. One declares that the marriage will be a great mistake, because the Duke is not received according to his rank on account of his acceptance of the republic. Others say, on the contrary, that a brilliant career will be open to the bride; that she will be received in the very heart of Faubour St. Germain society. The Duke's faults are regarded in Paris rather as a sowing of wild oats than as settled habits.

Some hostility to the Duke certainly arises from his courage in breaking away from the old traditions of his class. He has plenty of ability, is popular in his own district and intends to try to get into the Chamber of Deputies on the Republican platform and he will probably succeed. If so he will go ahead, for the republic would welcome him. He is a great personal friend of Count Boni de Castellane, but he disapproves of Boni's political principles.

GAMBLED AWAY $50,000.

Of course, Chaulnes has not been a model young man. He has gambled away his original fortune, estimated at $50,000, but he asserts that gambling never has had a real hold upon him. He is particularly well known in sporting and art circles of Paris, and is considered an expert in old furniture, curiosities, bric-a-brac, etc. He often advises American millionaires in art purchases. He is also a first-rate musician, being one of the best amateur pianists in Paris.

The Duke of Chaulnes's family boasts that it never has had a mesalliance among its members in six hundred years. On the other hand scandals and romances are not lacking. The mother of the Duke was Princess Galitzine, through whom the Duke is related to the Potocki family, whose magnificent house in the Avenue Friedland the Duke will inherit.

UNHAPPY MARRIAGE.

Princess Galitzine herself had an unhappy life. She lived after marriage in the house of her mother-in-law, the Duchess of Chevreuse, who was very austere and made the life of the Princess unendurable. Consequently she fled with the Count, now Marquis, Dion, the great motorist and aeronaut, then considered one of the handsomest men in Paris. After a while they quarreled, and the young Duchess lived in dire poverty until her death, which followed soon. A faithful maid cared for her to the last and procured the means for her burial.

Her children were brought up by their grandmother, but the old lady's severity did not crush their spirits as it did their mother's since the Duke of Chaulnes is one of the fastest young men in Paris while his sister, who was married young to the Duke d'Uzes, is considered one of the smartest leaders in not too straight-laced society.

The Duke of Chaulnes was at one time engaged to Miss Gebhard, but her family broke off the engagement. His name has also been associated with those of several other young women.

FELL IN LOVE WITH PORTRAIT.

Miss Shonts first saw the portrait of the Duke in an album at the Duchess d'Uzes's, whom she knew and fell in love with it. The Duchess, well pleased with the prospect, brought Miss Shonts and the Duke together, and did everything in her power to bring about the match. All the Duke's family are delighted, for they hope that he may regain position through his bride's money. These people are always living to the full extent of their incomes.

Mr. Shonts was at first quite opposed to the match, mainly on his general dislike of foreign marriages; but charming women, such as the Duchess d'Uzes, gradually sapped his resistance.

The Duke himself came to America especially to persuade "Papa," as he calls Mr. Shonts. Certainly his manner is very charming when he likes.

ELLEN TERRY HAS HAD THREE Romances

Married First Time At the Age of 16

Ellen Terry has had three romances, says the Scrap Book. The first came when she was only sixteen. She married middle-aged George Frederick Watts, the famous painter. She was care-free as the winds, and romped at her own wedding, as if there were no further meaning attached to it than to a reception.

But this ill-sorted union did not last long. The stiff, formal air of the painter's mansion stifled the young girl, and, in due course, a divorce was procured.

But little is known of her next mate. He was an actor named Charles Wardell, and he died not very long after the marriage, leaving her with two children, Edith and Charles, whose stage names are respectively Ailsa Craig and Gordon Craig. Both have been on the stage, but each has now elected to go in for "realizing" plays—that is, to transplant them from manuscript to the boards, rather than to the latter before an audience. Miss Craig stages all her mother's plays, and Gordon Craig is the man with weird notions about stage illumination, one of his fads being the abolishment of the footlights.

Ellen Terry's third romance culminated on her last visit in America, in the spring of 1907, when she married her leading man, James Carew. The ceremony was performed in Pittsburg by a justice of the peace on the 22d of March, but the facts thereof did not become known until early in May, after Miss Terry had sailed for Europe, leaving her husband behind for a few days, to explain. The reason for the secrecy of the affair was the wish to avoid notoriety. Mr. Carew sailed for England shortly afterward, and the two are now playing together on tour in Miss Terry's repertoire.

At the time of the marriage Miss Terry was fifty-nine years old and Mr. Carew thirty-one. He was born at Goshen, Indiana, and was brought up on a farm. Thence he passed to business life in Chicago, but, being endowed with the artistic temperament, never rested until he had landed on the stage, where he had a pretty hard row to hoe at first. If you will look at the program of the Belasco Theater in 1908 you will find his name set opposite one of the small parts in "Sweet Kitty Bellairs"—that of Tom Stafford, lieutenant.

Mr. Carew came to New York last winter with Miss Terry to do the captain in Bernard Shaw's "Captain Brasshound's Conversion."

BEST DIVER GETS GIRL

In parts of Greece there is an old custom for lovers to win their wives by their proficiency in diving. As is probably well known, sponge gathering is a great industry on the Grecian coast, and the girls' marriage portions in these districts usually consist of sponges. A diving contest is a common occurrence and often a girl who is unable to make up her mind between her lovers agrees to abide by the result of a display of diving and promises to marry the lucky man who can collect the largest number of sponges under water in a given time and also for the most courageous dive taken from a dangerous point.

CARNEGIE HELPS WOMAN LIFESAVER

NEWPORT, R. I., Dec. 9.—Andrew Carnegie has awarded a pension of $30 a month to Ida Lewis Wilson, the noted woman life saver, who for years has rescued men, women and children from the waters off the Rhode Island coast.

The announcement was made that the Laird of Skibo had sent her word that she will remain on his private pension roll for the balance of her life.

Mrs. Wilson, the widow of Capt. H. A. Wilson, is best known by her maiden name, Ida Lewis, and is still keeper of the Lime Rock light at the entrance to Newport harbor. She is the holder of medals from the United States government, the humane society of Massachusetts and several benevolent orders for her rescues, and has figured in more gallant life-saving episodes than any other woman in the world.

Money Flurry Ends Flirting at House Parties

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—The holiday house party this year will not prove its traditional raison d'etre—the opportunity for the innocent and gentle art of flirting with the other fellow's wife without offense. No!

Self-complacent hostesses are bestirring themselves. They view with alarm the fast increasing habit of the men who are obliged, or think they are obliged, to congregate in corners to talk of the one all-absorbing topic.

From the little groups here and there come such strange words as "stringency," "currency" "premium," "call money," "gold import" and the like—week-end echoes which reveal the obsession of the present hour.

In vain "the girls" don their loveliest (unpaid for) frou frous and softest allurements—the smoking room yielding up not a single black coat.

From all indications, from one that has long felt the social pulse, the holiday week-end is going to resemble nothing so much as an old-fashioned Quaker meeting—men on one side, woman on the other.

BRIDEGROOM SAYS 'I DO,' THEN FAINTS

DES MOINES, Ia., Dec. 9.—Des Moines society folk are talking of nothing else but the sensational incident which attended the most elaborate Des Moines wedding of the season, when the bridegroom, Asher Bidwell Bush, of Houston, Tex., fainted dead away in the midst of the ceremony which made him the husband of Miss Grace Mary Kendall.

"Asher, do you take this woman to be your lawful wedded wife, to care for her through life, to cherish and nourish her until death do you part?" asked Dr. E. T. Hagerman, of the First Methodist Church.

The bridegroom hesitated for several seconds. He seemed to be unable to speak. Then in a voice that to the 200 guests present sounded harsh and unnatural he said, "I do." Then he fainted and fell to the floor in the Kendall mansion, where the ceremony took place.

Confusion prevailed on every hand. In the midst of this melodramatic scene the bridegroom was carried out on the porch and it was ten minutes before he recovered consciousness. Dr. F. J. Will, one of the guests, said that Bush had suffered an attack of heart failure, due to the fatigue of coming from Texas and to the excitement naturally attendant upon an event of such importance.

Four young men in their dress suits picked up Bush and carried him through the parlor to a room upstairs. Bush covered his face with his hands as he was carried through the midst of the guests.

An hour elapsed. Many of the invited ones went home. But at 10 o'clock the bridegroom, looking very pale and worn, walked down the stairs, rejoined the bride in the parlor, their hands were clasped as before and the ceremony was concluded. Mr. and Mrs. Bush left immediately on their tour of the East.

Bush is the son of wealthy parents at Houston and is worth several hundred thousand dollars. He is of a nervous disposition, and he had complained of feeling tired. He had eaten no dinner and had smoked innumerable cigarettes, which were pronounced by the physicians to be instrumental in his sudden fainting spell.

Womanlike vs. Ladylike

It is decidedly womanlike, but no one can think it ladylike for a woman to stoop down on the street or in public anywhere to tie up her shoe-strings. No matter if her escort with politest "Allow me," humbles himself to get down and do it for her, she may be morally sure that in that case, he does not "stoop to conquer," not in the least little bit, but thinks to himself:

"She's no lady. Why don't women dress themselves before they come out? I would tie my shoe in a dozen hard knots before I would be seen trying them on the street."

And it is no mark of a lady to go out with her dress skirt on awry, or her waist half buttoned up, or hat, however stylish, tilted on one side. It looks mannish or rowdyish, perhaps, and that is what some women affect, but to any one of refinement or taste it is extremely vulgar.

I once read in a milliner's advertisement that among her most stylish and fetching hats there were some that were truly "rakish." Think of the meaning of the word rakish and what woman who respected herself would wear such a thing?

The extreme in dress, as in most everything else, is not in good taste; the happy medium is best.

No one can regret the passing of the wide hats with their awkward, flapping brims of a season or so ago. A much neater style now prevails.

I think the school girls need to tone down their hair ribbons and bows a bit now, as they have grown so prodigious and fantastic that they are anything but becoming to the fair heads they are meant to adorn.

RICH GIRL STUDIES FARMING AT COLLEGE

Deaf and Dumb Maid Decides to Run Ranch Presented to Her by Her Wealthy Father.

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—The announcement that Mary Josephine Crane, daughter of the wealthy iron manufacturer, Charles E. Crane, intends to become a farmer, is received with much interest by her relatives and intimate friends in Chicago.

Miss Crane, who is 20 years old, is about to finish a three-years' course in agriculture in the University of Wisconsin at Madison, which she has attended three years. Her proficiency as a student has attracted favorable attention from the members of the university faculty and students, more particularly because Miss Crane has been deaf and dumb from birth.

Miss Crane is a lover of athletics, and has attended all the big football games at Madison this season.

Miss Camp, who acts as an interpreter when necessary, accompanies Miss Crane into the class rooms and takes notes for her, although the latter can understand almost every word of a speaker by watching the motions of the mouth. She attends examinations alone, and has not yet failed to pass with high grade. Miss Crane has made a special study of how to diet sheep and care for their wool.

Among other accomplishments, Miss Crane is a horsewoman of grace and daring. She also has studied art with both brush and pen.

SEPARATED FROM HER CIGARETTE

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Mrs. Patrick Campbell, the actress, lighted and began to smoke a cigarette in the tea room at the Hotel Plaza one night during her residence there and the hotel officer ordered her to cease smoking.

Mrs. Campbell offered as an excuse for indulgence in tobacco in public the statement that smoking by women is permitted at the Carlton in London, the Ritz in Paris and in other European hotels.

"So far as food and service are concerned," said Fred Story, manager of the Plaza, "we try to run this hotel along continental lines; but we bar smoking by women in public. Americans in Europe go to hotels at which women are permitted to smoke and see nothing wrong in the practice there. To try it here is another matter. The Plaza does not want to be the first here to permit the custom."

WEDDING PLANS.

The wedding of Miss Florence Fogg and George Ernest Barnett will take place Saturday evening, December 21, at the home of the bride on Thirteenth street. The marriage service will be read by the Rev. Charles R. Brown and an elaborate reception will follow the pretty ceremony. Miss Elsie Cole will serve Miss Fogg as maid of honor. The eight bridal attendants will include Mrs. Lillian Barnett Neal, Mrs. Neah Gulick Flint, Miss Emma Barnett, Miss Dora Jacobs, Miss Alice Berry, Miss Aileen Martin, Miss Clara Mayen, Miss Anne Cameron. Four children, Miss Edith Barnett, Miss Lydia Fogg, Waldo Davis and Ralph Waterhouse, will complete the bride's procession. The bridegroom will be assisted by Irwin Aten, the ushers being chosen from his club friends in Berkeley.

Miss Fogg is the daughter of the late James L. Fogg, a well-known business man, and Mrs. Fogg of this city.

The groom-elect is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Barnett of Fowler. He was a popular college man and former president of the sophomore class. Before taking his degree he left the university to accept an important position with a banking concern in San Francisco. He is a member of the Abracadabra Club.

After a honeymoon trip the young couple will probably make their home in this city.

NOTABLE DINNER.

Interesting news from London tells of the farewell dinner given for Mr. and Mrs. Denis O'Sullivan, who left England last month for the United States. The dinner was attended by guests prominent in English theatrical, musical, literary, social and artistic circles, and were nearly 300 in number. Among them were Sir Charles Villiers Stanford, Sir Philip Burne-Jones, Sir William and Lady Richmond, Sir Joseph and Lady Swan, Sir George Power, Mme. Liza Lehmann, J. Annan Bryce, M. P., and Mrs. Bryce, Mr. and Mrs. Yates Thompson, Mrs. Hilaire Belloc, Miss Beatrice Harraden, John O'Connor, M. P.; J. P. Boland, M. P.; Hon. Captain Fitz-Hemphill, Herbert Deane, Newton Crane, Mrs. Flora Annie Steele and E. P. Connell, LL. D. .....

The dinner was preceded by a reception, at which T. P. O'Connor, M. P., presided, and the company was led into the banquet hall by two Irish pipers in the traditional kilts, who played "O'Sullivan's March."

After the long dinner the chairman, Matthew Keating, read congratulatory telegrams and letters from the following people, regretting their inability to attend the banquet and wishing Mr. O'Sullivan a prosperous trip: John E. Redmond, M. P., chairman of the Irish party; Justin and Miss McCarthy, Lord Castletown, Joseph Devlin, M. P.; John Burns, M. P., president of the local government guard; Sir Henry Seton-Marr, John S. Sargent, R. A., the bishop of Amyela, Colonel Millard Hunsiker, the countess of Bective, Herbert N. Gladstone, H. Plunkett Greene, Dr. Bourne, archbishop of Westminster; Arthur Wing Pinero, Katherine Tynan-Hinkson, Mme. Blanche Marchesi, Monsieur M. Esposito, Sir Henry Lawrence and Lyn Harding.

The banquet was interrupted for singing, toasts and speeches. Mr. O'Connor proposed Mr. Sullivan's health in a clever and witty speech, which was more than equalled by the response from the guest of honor. Later Mr. O'Sullivan sang delightfully some of the Irish ballads that he has done so much to immortalize, and the evening closed with a song in which everyone took part, the words, a farewell by Mr. Keating, having been set to Moore's spirited "Meeting of the Waters."

ORGAN RECITALS PROVE SUCCESS

Large Audience Enjoys Program of First of Series at Congregational Church.

The success of the first recital yesterday and the fact that practically all of the dates for the next three months have been provided for seems to assure the complete success of the winter series of organ recitals at the First Congregational Church. The response of the organists about San Francisco bay has been universal in its commendation of the plan for the series, which was suggested by Rev. Charles R. Brown, pastor of the church, and as a result of their ready response it may be necessary to run the series over into March.

Not fewer than three hundred and fifty people enjoyed the program yesterday and when it becomes more generally known that 4 o'clock is the hour for the recitals even larger audiences may be expected. The program of yesterday afternoon was as follows:

REFLECTION ON HONOR CAUSES ARTIST TO DIE

Shoots Himself When Judgment Given for Missing Painting.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9. — Because his business integrity was doubted Theodore Seiz, an art dealer, killed himself. He left a letter for his son in which he explained the reason for his action.

Some time ago a customer left a valuable painting with Seiz, who was to frame it. A fire occurred in the store and Seiz said the picture was destroyed. The customer sued for the value of it and recovered a judgment for $8000.

Seiz said the jury must have believed he sold the picture and this reflection on his honesty was more than he could stand. He shot himself.

BIG SHIPS HELD BY FOG, COME INTO PORT

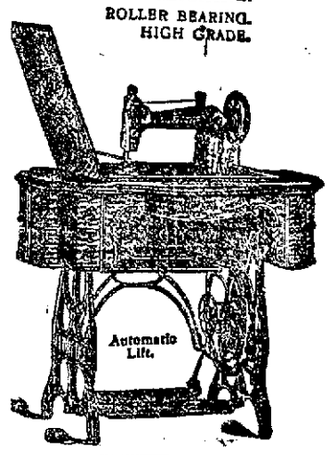

NEW YORK, Dec. 9. — The storm tossed, fog-bound fleet of weekend steamships, some of which had been at anchor down the bay since Saturday, crept into port through the blanket of mist yesterday. The American liner Philadelphia, from Southampton, was the exception. She was not delayed by fog, but came pounding past Sandy Hook, where the White Star liner Cretic, the Hamburg-American liner Amerika, the turbine flyer Lusitania and many smaller vessels were waiting for the fog to lift.

All the incoming liners brought stories of gales and heavy head seas and nearly all had some damage to show for the trying time through which they passed.

Burglars Boldly Open and Loot Six Safes

POLICE SAY PROFESSIONAL SAFE-BREAKERS DID JOB

Robbers While in Offices Had Rope Lowered From Windows by Which to Escape If Necessary.

A wholesale burglary of six offices was committed last night in the Brown building, 1003½ Broadway, corner of Tenth street. Safes were opened at will, desks were ransacked and offices were left in a topsy-turvy condition. Several hundred dollars was secured. Valuables which they did not get, however, although within easy reach, amounted to thousands of dollars.

Detective Richard V. McSorley was detailed on the case this morning, but was unable to obtain a clue to the identity of the burglars. The police believe that the wholesale looting of offices was the work of professional thieves, probably two ex-convicts who are known to be in this city.

In each office the burglars opened a window, the police think, for an avenue of escape, planning to leave the building by means of rope in the event that they discovered or were suddenly surprised at work.

Snyder & Bolton, wholesale jewelers, who occupy rooms 22 and 23, were probably the heaviest losers. Four or five diamond-studded watches, five opals and five rubies were stolen by the burglars. Many other valuables, silver plate and rings, were in the office, but were not taken by the thieves, who evidently operated in a hurry and only selected the best and most valuable articles.

Postage stamps formed the principal loot in the other five offices entered by the thieves, although a quantity of gold, valued at about $20, was taken from the office of Dr. E. R. Tait, a dentist. Dr. Tait's office was left in a topsy-turvy condition, and he reports that several dental instruments were also stolen. In Dr. Tait's office were found a quantity of legal papers, which had been taken from a safe in Judge E. M. Gibson's office. None of the papers, mostly deeds and wills, were stolen.

RANSACK LAW OFFICE.

The law office of Judge Gibson and Ben F. Woolner was also entered, skeleton keys being used to open the doors. Judge Gibson's safe was opened by its combination. The inner drawers were pried open and the contents scattered about the floor in all directions. Judge Gibson's desk was also pried open, but only a few postage stamps were taken.

Ben F. Woolner's private office was not disturbed. About $1600 were contained in Woolner's safe, but this was missed by the thieves.

Dr. C. F. Jarvis' office was also broken into, but nothing was taken. The office was thoroughly ransacked and papers thrown about in confusion.

A desk in John T. Scott's office was pried open with a jimmy and about ten stamped envelopes taken. Scott's papers were thrown about, the burglars evidently looking for something of value.

The office of the Oakland Loan & Trust Company was also entered, a quantity of stamps being taken. A desk was pried open and the stamp drawer was left in front of an open window, the thieves using the street lights.

Welles Whitmore's office was also broken into, but nothing was taken, desks and papers meeting with the same fate as in other rooms.

SENATE TO OPEN DEBATE ON FINANCIAL SITUATION

Preparation of Warship Fleet for Departure to Be One of Week's Many Important Events.

With the possibility of the opening of the financial debate in the Senate, the gathering of the great warship squadron at Hampton Roads, preparatory to departure for the Pacific; a meeting of the Democratic National Committee at Washington, the re-opening of the graft trials in San Francisco, the actual starting of the trial of George A. Pettibone at Boise, Idaho, the annual meeting of the National Civic Federation, the annual meeting of the National League of Baseball Clubs at New York, on the schedule, the week promises to be a busy one.

The prospect is good for the opening this week in the Senate of the financial debate. It will probably be sprung in connection with the resolutions of Senators Culberson and Clay, calling upon the Secretary of the Treasury for information bearing upon the recent currency crisis, and much interest is felt in the course the controversy may take. That the Democrats would seek the first opportunity to open the question has been understood right along, and it had only been a question as to the measures upon which they might base their talk.

DEMOCRATS TO FRONT.

The resolutions will naturally be laid before the Senate in the regular order of business during the morning hour Monday, and unless the Republicans evince a willingness to permit them to pass without objection, the Democrats will forthwith enter upon the discussion of the general situation.

Senator Tillman will introduce a financial resolution during the week and will probably speak on it.

NEW SENATOR TO SPEAK.

On Wednesday the Senate is promised a speech by Jefferson Davis, the new Senator from Arkansas, who will discuss the trusts and suggest a remedy for them. He regards all trusts as an evil, and will advocate their abolition.

The report of the committee on military affairs relating to the Brownsville riots is promised during the week, but it may be postponed.

In the House little actual work can be done until the committees are appointed, and the present indication are that the Speaker will not be able to announce them for several days.

It is probable that the committees on rules and mileage will be given to the public in advance of the others, and they may be expected before the close of the week.

In the meantime nothing can be done in the House beyond the introduction of bills and resolutions.

CURRENCY BILL.

The sub-committee of the committee on banking and currency, appointed to formulate a currency bill, will begin its work in earnest during the week.

Hampton Roads will be a scene of the liveliest interest throughout the week. The sixteen battleships which make up the Pacific-bound fleet will rendezvous in the roadsted on Monday and will take their stations in squadron of four vessels each, all under command of Rear Admiral Evans. During the week the sailors will be kept busy with painting and the clearing up of the last work of preparation. Searchlight drills at night will be a picturesque feature of the fleet's stay at Hampton Roads. The fleet's stay for the Pacific next Monday.

POLITICAL MEETING.

One of the principal news events of the week will be the meeting of the Democratic National Committee on Thursday. The committee will decide the place and date of the next Democratic national convention and from that time forward the Presidential campaign of 1908 may be said to have taken definite form. It is expected that Chicago, Kansas City and Denver will be bidders for the Democratic convention, just as they were for the gathering of the Republican delegates. Kansas City is expected to make an exceptionally strong bid; and, as Chicago has already secured the Republican convention, the rivalry between the two cities may not be so great. The Democratic convention is usually held during Fourth of July week, although there has been some talk among the committeemen this year of advancing the date so as to precede the Republican convention and get whatever advantage is to be gained from having the first ticket in the field. The Republican convention is set for June 16.

The dividend meeting of the Western Union Telegraph Company, scheduled to be held in New York on Tuesday, is attracting some considerable attention in the financial world. The company is now on a 5 per cent dividend basis.

A society function of unusual importance will be the wedding in New York of Miss Gladys Vanderbilt to the Count Szechenyi.

ATTEMPTS TO SHOW THAT OLIVE SCULLY IS A MORAL PERVERT

DR. J. W. ROBINSON

Who is testifying in rebuttal for the prosecution in the Olive Scully case.

Defendant Sits With Bowed Head Listening to Testimony, to Which Her Attorneys Enter Strenuous Objections.

Olive Scully's trial for the murder of former Deputy County Clerk James E. Glover was resumed before Judge Ellsworth this morning. Further rebuttal testimony was introduced by the prosecution to show that the defendant was not insane, but had become a moral pervert because of the life she had led. Her San Francisco history was gone into and witnesses produced to show what her life had been. The prosecution expects to be through with the rebuttal testimony tomorrow forenoon and the case will probably go to the jury Wednesday afternoon. The last witness to be called will be Dr. J. W. Robinson, insanity expert.

Ex-Policeman W. J. Clifford of San Francisco was the firt witness called today. The prosecution attempted to show that the defendant, at that time twelve years old, was with Thomas Rutherford, an ex-convict, when he was shot by Rutherford. The defense objected to the testimony upon the ground that it was not rebuttal and the objection was sustained.

William Zander of San Francisco was the next witness. He testified that he knew the defendant before her marriage and that at that time she was living in the restricted district. While his testimony was being given Miss Scully sat with her head bowed and her handkerchief to her eyes. Attorneys John J. Allen and Phil Walsh for the defense raised numerous objections, which were sustained.

ALLEGES HUSBAND WOULD KILL HER

Berkeley Woman Also Declares Spouse Threatens to Blow up Neighborhood.

Emmet W. Cutchin is assuced by his wife, Annie M. Cutchin, ofttempting to murder her with a bread knife while the two were at breakfast in their home at Berkeley Saturday morning. Mrs. Cutchin alleges that on other occasions her husband has threatened her life, principally by choking, and has also told her that when an opportunity offered he would blow up the neighborhood with dynamite.

RESCUERS FIGHT FIRE IN MINE

Flames Walled in While Workmen Seek Bodies of Slain Companions.

MONONGAH, W. Va., Dec. 9.—The fire which broke out in No. 9 mine yesterday was walled in this morning and the work of recovering the bodies of the victims of Friday's explosion was resumed. Up to 10 o'clock no more bodies had been brought to the surface, the list still standing at fifty-three.

Clarence Hall, the expert of the Federal government, and J. W. Paul, West Virginia's chief mine inspector, are now in charge, superseding officers of the mining company, and others who directed the first rescue work.

New difficulties and complications have confronted the rescuers on every hand, but with only brief interruptions the work was continued until 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Then the fire drove all from the unexplored regions, and the search had to be abandoned for the remainder of the day and for the night.

PIPE RIVER WATER.

The flames have been fought by every possible means, including the laying of a water pipe from the river into the mine.

The bodies so far recovered are in a horrible condition. An undertaker is authority for the statement that of the fifty-three bodies handled, only three were intact.

The condition of the bodies still in the mine is such that in the interest of public health the county board of health yesterday, at a special meeting, adopted resolutions ordering immediate burial of bodies brought from the mine.

FEAR EXPLOSION.

The volume of after damp is steadily increasing in the mine and the danger of another explosion is becoming ominous. Several leaks have been found in the brattices, which the rescuers put up as they worked their way forward, through which gas is seeping in dangerous quantities. They are being repaird as rapidly as found and every other possible precaution is being taken. A second explosion would undoubtedly be attended with great loss of life among the crowds that constantly stand around the entrances. Forces on hand are powerless to keep back these crowds—only soldiers could do that, and it may yet be necessary to call out the militia for that purpose.

Distress and want among women and children dependent upon the men who lost their lives is being brought forcibly before the community. It is estimated that there are between 350 and 400 families now in want. Some of these will later receive insurance, but many have nothing to look forward to. Headed by the churches relief was started yesterday and a general appeal to the public is being made. Many West Virginia towns have already acted and others are ready to do so. The work will be thoroughly organized and systematized.

TO AID FAMILIES.

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—The Chicago Red Cross Society will make a whirlwind 48-hour campaign, beginning today, to raise $5000 for the destitute relatives of the hundreds of miners killed by the explosion at Monongah, W. Va.

CRIMINAL LIST IS LENGTHY ONE

Calendar Contains as Many Cases as Any in History of Superior Court.

Judge Melvin called one of the longest criminal calenders in the history of the Supreme Court this morning, over thirty names being on the list. The majority of cases were continued owing to the congested condition of the calendar.

James Bowan, accused of burglary in entering the house of Engineer Magnannt the night of October 14, 1907, put in a plea of not guilty. He refused an attorney, and when asked if Bowan was his real name said that his name was James Conway Greelish. He said he would represent himself. The trial was set for December 19.

Louis Long pleaded guilty to burglary in entering a local tailor short and carrying away six yards of goods which he sold at San Jose. Young Long's case was continued two weeks for sentence to give Probation Officer Ruess opportunity to look into his record.

Lloyd Lewis pleaded not guilty to feloniously marrying Mrs. Rosie Eldridge, whom he knew as a married woman and the wife of Edward Eldridge. His trial was set for January 20, 1908.

Michael J. Healey, accused of grand larceny, charged with stealing a watch from Michael J. Hayes, pleaded not guilty and his case was set for trial.

George Nishygima, a Japanese, Douglas Raiford and Ernest Holloway, charged with breaking into the store of W. Smith, pleaded guilty to burglary. The probation officer was given three weeks to look up their records.

Annie Gmerod, charged with stealing $80 from J. W. Haggard, pleaded not guilty to grand larceny and her case set for trial January 20.

Frank J. Adams, who is charged with assault upon a young Berkeley girl, asked for a week's continuance, which was granted. He is represented by Attorney Bert Wyman.

TEAMSTER HURT IN CAR ACCIDENT

(Special to The Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9.—William Lovelace, a teamster, is in a serious condition at the Central Emergency Hospital as the result of injuries received in a collision between his team and a Folsom street car at Fourth and Folsom streets at 8:30 o'clock this morning.

Lovelace was driving across the tracks, when car 1524, traveling at a rapid rate of speed, crashed into his wagon, and hurled him head foremost to the street. Lovelace was picked up in an unconscious condition and removed to the hospital, where it was found he had sustained a fractured skull, besides possible internal injuries. His recovery is doubtful.

BUSINESS DEAL DELAYS UNION NATIONAL'S OPENING

President Palmer Declares Institution Will Reopen Doors as Soon as Pending Negotiations Are Completed.

"While it is true that the affairs of the bank are in a shape so satisfactory to the comptroller of the currency that he has given us permission to open for business," said President Charles E. Palmer of the Union National Bank, this morning, "negotiations are now pending which must be concluded before we can definitely state the day when business will be resumed. The committee on reorganization, headed by Director James De Fremery, is working out plans which, ween completed, will put the bank on a sounder and better footing than it ever has been.

"There is nothing crooked at all in the transaction reported in one of the morning papers to the effect that J. Dalzell Brown obtained $50,000 from this bank on account of our eastern exchange and that he is owing the Union Bank that amount. It was Mr. Brown's practice to come over here every week to look after the Union National Bank's eastern exchanges, and would take over whatever change money was needed to cover our balances in his automobile.

He took over with him to San Francisco $30,000 in gold coin and a draft for $20,000, a few days before the suspension of his bank and sent a draft to New York for $50,000 to be paid to our credit. The draft reached New York one day after the news reached there of the bank's suspension and we were notified that the funds were there to cover the draft, but they could not cash it owing to the suspension.

"There is nothing wrong in that," added Mr. Palmer, "for, with the suspension of the bank, payment of the draft had to be suspended. We would not be able to honor, for example, a check drawn one day against a personal account which might be presented for payment the day after the death of the drawer of the check, as the money on deposit in his name would have to be transferred at once to the estate. That is just what has happened this $50,000 eastern exchange."

Appendicitis.

How To Avoid It and Escape a Surgical Operation, Told By One Who Knows.

A Simple Method That Is Always Efficacious.

It has only been a few years since it was discovered that a surgical operation would cure appendicitis; in fact, it has been but a short time since the disease was discovered and named.

Whenever there is an inflamed condition of the appendix, caused by impacted faeces in the small cavity opening into the intestines, you then have appendicitis.

The older doctors used to call this inflammation of the bowels, and were puzzled to know the cause.

Even now, with all the knowledge we have of the disease, no medical man can tell you why we should have an eppendix, why we find it, where it is, or what are its functions, if it has any.

The disease for which the operation is a cure is usually caused by indigestion, and in many cases follows a large and indigestible meal.

Physicians have until recently recommended an operation, but now, as it is known that it is caused by indigestion, or dyspepsia, a cure without an operation is assured.

Where the patient is treated with Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, the unhealthy conditions prevailing rapidly disappear, the stomach and intestines are placed back in their normal condition, every organ of the body operates as it should, and the inflammation is reduced and the operation is avoided.

Conscientious physicians, who are looking after the best interests of their patients, will always keep a supply of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets handy in their office, where in cases of sudden attacks of indigestion they can relieve the patient at once.

There is no record of a case of appendicitis where the stomach and bowels were in a healthy condition and properly digested the food from meal to meal.

No better advice can be given to any one who has attacks of indigestion, or who has been threatened with appendicitis, than to tell him to go to the drug store, pay 50 cents, and take home a package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Whenever heartburn, gas in stomach or bowels, heart disease or stomach troubles, sour eructions, acidity or fermentation are present, act at once. Take a dose of the Tablets and get relief as soon as possible.

At all druggists—50 cents.

Send us your name and address today and we will at once send you by mail a sample package free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

HUGHES RESERVES NO ROOMS IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—Manager Kennedy of the Auditorium Hotel said that no request had been received by him for the reservation of rooms during the national Republican convention for Governor Hughes of New York. The New York delegation has reserved headquarters at the Auditorium annex, and the story of a reservation by Governor Hughes, according to Kennedy, probably grew out of this fact.

POLICE EXPECT RENEWAL OF CHINESE TONG WAR

Serious Aspect Lent to Situation by the Alleged Complicity of Hired White Thugs.

Although negotiations for peace are on between the better elements of the local Chinese and strenuous efforts are being made on the part of influential members of the Six Companies to bring the bloodshed to an end by securing a peace conference between the warring Hop Sings and Bing Kong tongs, the police momentarily expect a renewal of hostilities that will involve every active highbinder association on both sides of San Francisco bay.

WHITE MEN JOIN.

An aggravating circumstance which may cause the pistols to pop again with deadly effect, was the hold up of Ah Chung, employed in the liquor store of Ah Kee, in Webster street near Fourth street, in this city, at an early hour yesterday morning. Two white men, who are presumed to have been paid to join in the tong war, and two Chinese were implicated in the hold up, Ah Chung being relieved of $9. One of the Chinese, who was recognized as Ah Sing by the victim, went through his pockets as the white men compelled Chung to remain quiet by displaying revolvers.

SUSPECT HELD.

Joseph Cardoza, who says he is a trainman, was arrested on suspicion of being a party to the hold up. He was caught by Policeman Curran and Haighin as he was escaping from the scene with a supposed accomplice. An investigation by the police leads them to the opinion that some other motive than robbery was at the bottom of the hold up and that it may have been planned with the object in view of adding Ah Chung's name to the already long list of tong feud victims.

POLICE THEORY.

The police are working on the theory that Cardoza and his gang may have been implicated in the park shooting affray of several days ago in which Wong Leong, a Hop Sing man, was wounded and in which three white men are said to have participated under employ of one of the warring tongs. The employ of the white men in the trouble lends a most serious aspect to the present trouble, the police admitting that their hands were full even were the Chinese alone in the trouble. This is the first time in the history of highbinder warfare that white men were employed to take an active part in the attempted killing of marked men.

HATCHETMEN LEAVE.

At 6 o'clock last night, police officials were advised by telephone that a number of Chinese hatchetmen, the advance guard of imported fighting men, had left San Jose for this city. A careful watch of incoming trains and boats, however, resulted in discovering the arrival of but one Chinese and he was not a fighting man. It is expected that gunmen will in the near future be imported from San Jose, Bakersfield and other cities where paid hatchetmen find a refuge during lulls of troubulous times.

CARMIN LEAVES FOR SPRINGFIELD

Released Without Bail on Promise to Appear in Wilkins Murder Trial.

Louis L. Carmin, husband of Mrs. Vernie Carmin, who, it is charged, was murdered by Mark A. Wilkins, in Elmhurst, was released this morning without bail. In the absence of a sufficient showing being made in Judge Geary's court—that Carmin would not be in attendance in the Superior Court—the former motion of Attorney McAdams, counsel for the defense, that Carmin be placed under bond to insure his attendance at the Wilkins trial was denied in the Superior Court by Justice Geary.

Carmin testified under oath that he would attend the trial of Wilkins in the Superior Court if physically strong enough. He also stated that he would require three or four days' notice prior to appearance at the trial. Carmin stated that he would leave Springfield, Mo., as soon as he was served with a supoena.

$150,150 FOR FIRE DEPARTMENT USE

Mayor Mott Signs Ordinance Appropriating Sum for the Improvements.

Mayor Mott this morning signed an ordinance authorizing the Board of Public Works to increase the fire department in a substantial way from an apparatus standpoint. In commenting on the improvement and taking exception to the complaints heard concerning tax rates, Mayor Mott hints at a possible benefit that would be derived from public ownership of public utilities. Mayor Mott today said:

SIGNS ORDINANCE.

"I have just signed an ordinance authorizing the Board of Public Works to increase the fire department in the following manner:

"Three new steam fire engines, $18,000.

"Three combination chemical and hose wagons, $8000.

"Fire hose, $5000.

"One new boiler for Engine No. 3, $2500.

"Two hose wagons, $1400.

"One automobile for assistant chief, $2750.

"A fire house on Twenty-fifth street, near Broadway, $25,000.

"A firehouse on Fifty-first street, near Telegraph avenue, $22,500.

"A fire house on East Fourteenth streets, between Twelfth and Thirteenth avenue, $22,500.

"A fire house east of Broadway, $20,000.

"A fire house south of Seventh street, $22,500.

"Total, $150,150.

"Speaking off-hand, I would say that the amount represented above, $150,150, which will be spent during the coming year for new apparatus and houses, is more than the city has devoted to this department for the same purpose during the past ten years; $150,150 on our valuation of $100,000,000 accounts for 15 cents of the tax rate of $1.25.

LOW TAX RATE.

"This may prove of interest to a certain number of our citizens who are continually complaining that their taxes are high, and they get nothing for their money. As an example, I might state that I have just received a letter from one of our citizens, in which, among other things, he sets forth as a cause of complaint the fact that the car service in his neighborhood is not as often in comparison as the tax rate is high, which strikes me as a new and strange deficiency that is unfair to charge up against the tax rate until public ownership of public utilities becomes the rule instead of the exception in our fair city."

HEALTH BOARD AUTO.

Mayor Mott also this morning signed ordinances changing the width of sidewalks on Twenty-third avenue; changing and re-establishing the official curb grades on Rio Vista avenue, formerly Monte Vista avenue; authorizing the Board of Public Works to purchase an automobile for the use of the Board of Health and an ordinance providing and appropriating $2000 for the improvement of Forty-second street.

EXPLOITS VALUE OF ISLAND WOODS

Head of Forestry Bureau Says Philippine Forests Practically Inexhaustible.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Major Ahern, head of the forestry burearu of the Philippine Islands, is in New York for the purpose of attempting to interest lumbermen in the forests of the Philippines.

"Few Americans realize the possibilities of the forests of our possessions in the East," he said. "In the less populated islands of the Philippines there are immense forests of hard timber that could be substituted for the valuable woods that have become scarce in Europe and America.

"The forests of Yaoul and Halave are extensive enough to produce millions of railroad ties, to which use their woods are adapted.

"The government is selling no timber lands, but is disposing of the standing timber as fast as possible under restrictions against cutting small trees, and thus providing against dending the land. Half of the profits from the timber sold have thus far been to the bureau of forestry."

BOY DIES FROM RESULT OF FALL

Strikes Head on Iron Pipe as He Tumbles Into Hole Dug for an Oil Tank.

John Chandler Jr., the three-year-old son of John Chandler, a wealthy farmer about eight miles from Centerville, was killed yesterday by striking his head on an iron pipe while accidentally falling into a hole dug for an oil tank. The infant sustained concussion of the brain, which resulted in death despite the efforts of Dr. Wills to save life.

The tank had not been placed in the excavation made for it and the hole had filled with rain water. The child was seen playing about the place and just as it toppled over into the hole the father, who witnessed the accident, rushed to the scene and pulled the child from the water. He was surprised to find his boy unconscious, and it was not until after the arrival of the physician that the reason for its condition was known, a dark colored bruise on the forehead telling the story of the injury, which resulted in death. An inquest will be held.

CANNOT FORCE FAST MAIL TRAINS TO STOP

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—The question whether a railroad company can be compelled, upon the order of a State Railroad Commission, to stop its fast mail trains when engaged in inter-state commerce was decided today by the Supreme Court on the United States in the negative in the case of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company vs. the Board of Railroad Commissioners of South Carolina.

KETCHEL WILL MAKE HIS USUAL AGGRESSIVE FIGHTS

Thomas Well Within Weight Limit---Attell and Moran May Squabble Over the Weight.

BY EDDIE SMITH.

Joe Thomas and Stanley Ketchel worked out in their respective gymnasiums before large crowds of boxing fans and information seekers. Ketchel and Thomas have both been seen by the writer and it must be admitted that they look to be in the very pink of condition. From all outward signs the men are in a condition right now that would enable them to put up the fight of their lives if it were necessary.

The weight that the men have to make seems well within the reach of Thomas, who is the heavier of the two, which news is particularly pleasant to the ears of the admirers of the handsome Californian. Ketchel has made the weight with ease; in fact, he has eased off in his hard work, although he will keep right at his gymnasium and road work up to the day of the fight, and as the event is to take place in the evening it is very probable that the Montana fighter will go on the road for a warm-up the day of the contest.

Ketchel has with him at Colma, Mike McClure and Fred Cooley and the boxing stunts that the trainers have been subjected to during the past two weeks have been anything but pleasant to the receiver.

The outline of battle that Ketchel has planned is gained through watching him at his work. The Montana fighter only knows one style of milling and that is to cautiously spar around for the right opening and then rush in with either hand ready to land a crushing swing.

When Ketchel does this he comes so fast and his punches are coming with such force that an opponent is compelled to retreat and get out of fire, the blocking and countering system being exceedingly dangerous. It was with these rushes that he beat Thomas before and it will be with them that Ketchel will beat a great many more men than will beat him.

Jack Gleason has set up the ring and today he says that he will spread the tent over the place so that in case it should rain the ground and ring will be thoroughly dry when the crowd enters the arena Thursday night. The tickets will be placed on sale today at the Hague Cigar Store on Fillmore street and at Devereaux Cigar Store, Broadway, Oakland.

The betting on the contest still remains at 10 to 8, but there is great probability of the Thomas end shortening when the players start to betting with a vengeance.

The management has announced that the gallery seats will be placed on sale at the various places Wednesday and the fans from Oakland who roost in the gallery will have an opportunity to secure their gallery tickets the day before the contest at Devereaux Cigar Store.

This move is a new one and originated with Gleason after the Britt-Gans affair, when after refusing to sell the tickets to the scalpers, they had bogus ones printed.

"This," said Gleason the other day, "will do away with the wholesale scalping that has been going on and at the same time it will prevent the fans from standing in line for their tickets in case it is raining."

When Abe Attell and Owen Moran meet at the Willis this afternoon things are not going to go along as smoothly as it would seem when the Hebrew boxer accepted the offer for a contest made by Coffroth.

On leaving Los Angeles last night Abe said that he would expect Moran to make 120 pounds two hours before the contest. Attell claims that Coffroth wired him that Moran would make either 120 or 122 pounds two hours before the contest, and that he will require the Britisher to go to the lightest of the two figures.

Whether or not Moran can make 120 pounds two hours before the contest and be strong is not known, but judging from the way that he made the weight for Frankie Neil, it would seem that he could not. The weight in the Neil contest was 122 pounds at 6 o'clock, which was almost four hours before the men entered the ring. When the boys stepped on the scales that afternoon Neil was below the weight limit and Moran was a trifle over-weight, I should say about six or eight ounces.

With this figure to go on it would seem that if Attell insists that the men meet at 120 pounds, the contest may be called off and the fans again disappointed. Moran is a shrewd chap and it is the opinion of the writer that he will not make that weight if he is of the opinion or has the least suspicion that it will hurt him.

Johnnie Frayne and Johnnie Murphy are to meet tomorrow night at the old Colma Pavilion which is about a mile further down the road than the Mission street arena. Much has been said of the championship ability of the two boys and about their chances with the top-notchers in the game, but the truth of the matter is that neither of the boys have shown the class that would entitle them to a whack at the good boys in the lightweight division.

Frayne is the classier of the two and will perhaps go further on the road to the championship, and it might be that he will reach it. Surely, no better boy could, for Johnnie is a gentlemanly fellow with a world of friends who wish him well.

Murphy is far away from the championship class, and although he has an even chance with Frayne, he will, in the opinion of the writer, fall far short of ever passing the hard-hitting fellows of his division.

The contest is one that will be honestly fought, however, and it is one that will be worth the trouble of traveling to Colma for. The two previous contests of the pair are proof of this fact.

JOHNNY FRAYNE AND JOHNNY MURPHY, WHO WILL FIGHT THIRTY ROUNDS AT COLMA TOMORROW NIGHT.

Vampires Win Soccer Game

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9. — The Vampires defeated the Burns at the Stadium yesterday afternoon by a score of 1 to 0. The field was soggy, and the players had difficulty in keeping their feet but put up a good article of football under the circumstances.

The Vampires scored the only goal of the game after fifteen minutes of play. The ball had been traveling from one end of the field to the other when Middleton kicked to Singer. The left wing man sent the ball across to Barnard, who centered, and Robinson, getting the ball in front of the goal scored with a splendid shot. During the balance of the first half the Vampires had the better of the play.

The Burns team showed up in good form in the second half and made a number of dangerous attacks on the Vampires' goal, but the defense of Peterson, Hunter and McFarlane was excellent. Just before time was called the Burns' made a determined attack and were only prevented from scoring by the fine work of McFarlane in goal. The teams were:

His training was done in the forenoon, but as a large crowd gathered in the afternoon he illustrated many of the tricks of jiu-jitsu with George Braun, a former lightweight wrestler of the Olympic Club. Maclaglen also offered to meet any heavyweight boxer, the boxer to use the regulation boxing gloves and the wrestler to wear his jiu-jitsu costume. The bouts commence tonight at 8.30 o'clock.

YOUNG KETCHEL BELIEVES IN NUMEROUS ILL OMENS

Husky Montana Scrapper Is a Very Superstitious Fellow---Likes Thirteen and Twenty-Three.

Prize fighters, like the grand opera stars, have their hobbies, and if they do not have any natural ones the press agents manufacture some for them. But Young Ketchel has a hobby which is natural and there is no necessity for the press agent putting on his thinking cap and scheme out how to frame one up. While Ketchel is as brave as the proverbial lion when he faces a fighter in the ring, he is one of the most superstitious fellows in the world. He has a giddy girl faded when it comes to figuring out ill omens.

The other afternoon some women paid a visit to the training quarters at Millett's in an automobile and in the party was a fox terrier. Now, around the training quarters there is a pet cat, and as soon as the "pup" spied the black feline he made one leap for him and for a few minutes there was some fur flying. Chairs were toppled over and things were in a topsy-turvy condition in a jiffy. Ketchel thought he would be gallant and began to chase the dog and finally cornered him. He grabbed him by the back of the neck and pulled him away from the cat with her ruffled fur. Just then one of his trainers said "Leave the darn cat alone don't you know it's bad luck to pet a black cat." As soon as he heard that Ketchel flung the cat right at the dog, and then there was trouble brewing.

The Montana boxer likes to do things on the thirteenth or twenty third day of the month. He thinks the "unlucky thirteen" and the "skidoo number" are good omens for him. If he happens to meet a cross-eyed person he'll take off his hat and expectorate to off-set the bad luck he imagines it caused him. When he is out on the road, and finds a horseshoe, over his left shoulder goes the piece of old iron. A spider happened to weave his web around his punching bag one night and the next afternoon when he spied it he was tickled to death, as he considered that a sure sign of victory.

However, despite this little peculiarity, Ketchel is a great fighter and attends strictly to business when he is training for a battle. He is in grand fettle for Thursday's conflict with Joe Thomas, and the ex-champion will find a much-improved man in front of him when the gong rings at Recreation Park on the 12th. The sturdy mountaineer is feeling stronger than ever and he has picked up quite a few pointers on the boxing end of the game, which should be of material assistance to him in a twenty-round fight, where the action is bound to be faster than in a finish contest, because both men will try to end the affair as speedily as possible. Blocking and side-stepping count a whole lot in this sort of a fight, and while most of the fans consider Thomas the master of Ketchel at this branch of the game the supporters of the Montanan claim that Ketchel is now equally as fast and as clever as Thomas.

The betting public fancy Ketchel and the odds have remained at ten to eight, which indicates that while there is considerable money being bet on Ketchel, the fact that there is no slumping in the price shows that Thomas has many admirers who are willing to risk their coin on him at such odds.

Turkey Shoot Is Feature of Day

The experts of eight clubs blazed away at the marks on the rifle and pistol ranges at Shell Mound Park yesterday afternoon. There was some very fair marksmanship displayed, but nothing that approached record shooting. The most important event of the day was the shoot of the Norddeutscher Schuetzen Club for turkeys. Forty-two competed and of this number fourteen carried off prizes.

The Shell Mound Pistol and Rifle Club has made up its averages for the November bullseye shoots, which show H. Windmuller the best shot, with a score of 16. The announcement was made that in addition to the eight club prizes donated for the 1908 program the following have donated trophies for the best shots at the end of next year: Herman Huber, Colonel Theodore Gier, Henry A. Harris, O. A. Poulsen, R. S. Wixson and L. Siebe.

Scoreless Contest In Soccer League

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9.—The Albion Rovers and the Thistles battled to a scoreless draw on the Seventh avenue grounds yesterday. Both teams played snappy and aggressive football and while the goals were in danger on more than one occasion there was nothing looking like a score forthcoming.

A chance of a lifetime was lost by the Thistles with only a minute of playing time left. At this period the Thistles were awarded a penalty kick, but Duncanson who took the kick missed and the Thistles lost the best chance of the season to defeat the Rovers.

The forwards of the Albion Rovers were not up to their best form, but the backs were in fine fettle and withstood the onslaughts of the clever Thistle forwards in great shape. The line up:

Thistles—Goal McRitchie; backs, Gore and Kay; halfbacks, Duncanson, Meachim and Jenkinson; forwards, Scott, E. Symons, Shanks, F. Symons and Pennycook.

Albion Rovers—Goal, Stevenson; backs, Anderson and Selkirk; halfbacks, McIntyre, Cockburn and McKiernon; forwards, Milne, Donahue, Petrie, Pike and Balm.

San Franciscos Defeat Scotias

STANDING OF THE CLUBS.

	Games Played.	W.	L.	Drwn.	Pts.
Albion Rovers	7	5	0	2	12
Scotias	8	4	3	1	9
Thistles	7	3	1	3	9
Vampires	6	4	2	0	8
Independents	8	3	4	1	7
San Franciscos	7	2	4	1	5
Robert Burns	7	0	4	0	*4
Hornets	8	0	8	0	0

*2 points deducted for playing ineligible man.

The San Francisco soccer team came to life yesterday at Alameda and defeated the Scotias in a well played game by a score of 3 to 0. The Scotias appeared on the field with only nine men, and with this short team played the first half.

The San Franciscans soon started to pelt away at the Scotias goal, and before half time had put the ball into the Scotias net five times, but two of the goals were disallowed. The Scotias were playing only one full back and the San Francisco players found it difficult to keep on side, and many promising runs were spoiled by the referee's whistle.

Walters scored the first two goals for the San Francisco team and the third was the result of a miss kick by Sharpe, the Scotia fullback, who inadvertently kicked the ball through his own goal.

In the second half the Scotias were reinforced by the presence of Dewar and Livingstone, but even with their full team the locals had the better of the play. Another "off-side" goal was scored and numerous chances to add to the total were missed by the San Francisco forwards and the game ended with the score the same as at the end of the first half.

The Scotias were without their crack center forward, Glenn, but the other players showed little class, and were far below the form which won them a high place in the league table during the earlier games of the series.

For the San Franciscos, Mizen and Kirwin defended splendidly and McAfee played a nice game in goal, saving cleverly on every occasion that the Scotias were dangerous. Walters was the best of the forwards, while Mages also played well, although he did not seem to shoot as well as usual.

The teams lined up as follows: San Francisco—Goal, McAfee; backs, Kirwin and Fitchie; half backs, Airey, Mizen and Spencer; forwards, Walters, Alston Mages Burns and Chown.

Scotias—Goal, Cuthbertson; backs, war and Sharp; half backs, Barbour, Wardlaw and Truman; forwards, Somerville, Haig, Livingstone, Armour and McKillip.

Referee—A. W. Wilding.

Santa Rosa Will Have Boxing Show

SANTA ROSA, Dec. 9.—Under the auspices of the Sonoma Valley Athletic Club there will be several boxing contests held here the evening of December 18. The main event is to be a fifteen-round contest between Art Piver of Duncan's Mill and Tom Cook of this city.

Here's Good Advice.

Little Tommy West Loses to Briton

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 9.—Sammy Kellar of England had all the better of Tommy West of San Francisco in their go here last Saturday night. Kellar landed continually on West's face and soon had him badly cut up and bruised. Kellar did not have a mark on him.

In the preliminaries Patsy Clyde of Newark showed up better than Ben Kaufman of Philadelphia. Clyde tired after the third round, however, and Kaufman evened things up a bit.

Tommy Murphy of New York defeated Young Loughery of Philadelphia in the windup. He hammered Loughery all over the ring and was not in trouble at any time of the bout.

Star Players to Meet in Finals

Maurice McLoughlin and Carl Gardner are down to meet in the final match of the handicap singles tournament of the Golden Gate Tennis Club next Sunday.

Some good tennis was displayed in the tournament yesterday and only two defaults were made.

Paul Hardiman, the title holder, was defeated by G. Hall and Hall in turn was beaten by Maurice McLoughlin. Hall played a good game, smashing the ball hard, but McLoughlin was the faster player, and won in straight sets.

Carl Gardner won the right to meet McLoughlin in the deciding match by defeating W. Marcus in straight sets.

McIntyre Would Wrestle McLaglen

Chester McIntyre of the Reliance Athletic Club does not think that Leopol McLaglen is the devil that he advertises himself to be, and says that he will take on the big fellow at any style of wrestling that McLaglen may choose.

McLaglen is to wrestle a couple of Japanese Jiu-Jitsu artists in San Francisco tonight. McIntyre believes that he is a better man at any style of wrestling than is McLaglen, and he declares that if the latter wants a match all he will have to do is to drop him a line, and he will be accommodated.

HORSE MOURNS OVER DEATH OF TEAM MATE

NEW YORK.—Henry Ehmer had driven Joe and Katie for five years to the tender of Engine Company No 40, and he loved the fine, intelligent horses and they, plainly, loved each other. Ehmer was hurrying the team to an alarm fom Sixty-eighth steet and Columbus avenue when Joe's rein broke, the team swerved, Joe, at full speed, struck an "L" pillar on Columbus avenue, and dropped. Elmer was hurled from the drive's seat and fell on the motionless horse.

Ehmer's only thought was for Joe; the poor, brave horse was dead.

"Come, on, Hattie," said the mournful Ehmer, "we'll take the hose-wagon back."

But Hattie was overcome. Never did female show grief plainer. She stood over Joe and, trembling violently, passed her dilated nostrils over her head, asking him, in her fashion, "What's the matter, old chap?" When Joe's body was disengaged from the harness Hattie would not move. She shook until it seemed she would fall. Ehmer threw a coat over the sorrowing mare's head and led her, blindfolded, to the engine house near by. There, despite all the firemen's caresses, despite a fine bran mash, Hattie moped and fumed, for the stall next hers was empty.

As usual, when something deplorable happens, the fire was trifling.

AMERICANS IN PERSIA.

During a recent visit to Urumia, Persia, to confer with a number of naturalized American citizens, it was decided by thirty or more of them to incorporate at once for a general exchange of commodities with the United States. I pointed out to them that in all probability their society would secure the agency for agricultural machinery, hardware in general, sewing machines and cotton fabrics, while the society could export Persia and other oriental carpets and rugs, fine silk tapestries and table and couch covers, cushion covers, an attractive sort made from donkey carpet saddlebags—certain kinds of gum suitable for candy and medicine, a fine grade of raisins in neat boxes, almonds and possibly other articles.

If American shoes could be sold to them in New York or Boston at $1.75 f. o. b., it is probable that they could introduce them into northwest Persia. The sizes ought to run from Nos. 6 to 9, very wide and high instep, for the average need. Persians wear slippers generally, as it is necessary to remove footgear upon entering a house. Usually the slippers have no heels and cover only the instep and forward part of the foot.

SCOTCH EARL'S SON IS A RAILROAD WATCHMAN

Hon. Lyulph Gilchrist Stanley Ogilvy, D. S. O., formerly of Brabant's horse, uncle of the Earl of Airlie, who was killed in South Africa, and brother of Lady Maud Ogilvy, who married Theodore White, has gone to work.

He has sold his ranch near Greeley after a difference of opinion with his noble family and has taken a job as night watchman at the Union Pacific freight depot at a salary of $60 a month.

The trouble was caused by his marriage to Miss Edith Boothroyd, daughter of a Colorado ranchman, five years ago. They have two children.—Denver Correspondence of the New York Sun.

MARGARET SMITH TAKES CAR 23

Woman Arrested Many Times Gets Freedom on Promising to Leave Oakland.

Margaret Smith, an old offender, put up such a pitiful plea for liberty before Police Judge Smith this morning that she was allowed to go her way, but only after promising to leave Oakland before 12 o'clock, a failure to do so to result in a six months' sentence on a charge of vagrancy. Margaret Smith said this morning:

"I was on my way to Berkeley when arrested. I have been here now twenty days. I am getting too despondent to stay in Oakland, for I have not had a holiday of any length of time out of jail since the big fire. If you let me go, I take car 23. Let me go to spend Christmas with my friends and relatives. If I can't get out of jail now I will die sure as I am born."

HILBORN GETS HIS.

George Hilborn, who was found sleeping in an improvised shack which he had erected from old boards in a lot at Twenty-eighth and Grove streets, and who was arrested by Policeman Fleck on a charge of violating the sleeping out ordinance despite his covering, was today sentenced to pay a fine of $40 or remain in jail twenty days.

SMALL BOYS IN JAIL.

Harry Deasy and Earl McClellan, two sixteen-year-old boys in jail on a charge of burglary, they having stolen, it is alleged, a quantity of candy from an East Oakland store after breaking out a pane of glass, were in court this morning and will plead to the charge against them tomorrow.

BELLBOY IN COURT.

Warren P. Galbreath better known as Harry Evans, a bellboy accused of the theft of a quantity of jewelry from a roomer in the Arlington hotel, appeared before Judge Samuels this morning and his case was set for preliminary hearing on December 20.

CHARGED WITH FORGERY.

Frank Moore charged with forgery by L. W. Sansom, appeared for preliminary examination this morning. He was arrested by Captain of Detectives Petersen, who says that Moore has a criminal record in Chicago a mile long. Moore was held for trial in the Superior Court.

'BAY PIRATES' CONFESS ROBBERY

Three Young Men in City Jail Admit Burglary and Will be Bound Over.

Henry Gaines, William Fitzgerald, Joseph Silva, Frank Ingram and George Cunningham, all young men, known to the police as bay pirates, and under arrest at the city prison on charges of burglary, have confessed to the theft of about $250 worth of goods from an ark located at Rock Wall, west of the Southern Pacific slips, the property of S. E. Phillips. Through the confession of the men, a burglary at first clouded in mystery has been cleared up. The stolen goods consisted of rope, tools, cooking utensils, all of the bedding and furnishings of the ark as well as numerous small articles. Detective Kyle, who made the arrests, secured the evidence against the young men and finally obtained their confessions.

BURNED STOLEN GOODS.

Shortly after the burglary, some of the stolen property was traced to an improvised shack a mile and a half down the beach from the scene of the property. All that was left of the bedding and other articles stored there by the thieves upon the arrival of Detective Kyle was some ashes, the property having been burned by the men in the hopes of destroying the evidence against them.

Suspicion soon attached to the men who have now confessed and they were taken into custody but were not formally charged until this morning, incriminating evidence having been found in some of the homes of the arrested men. Sufficient evidence, it is said, was at hand to hold the men without confessions, but as the men admit their guilt, they will at once be bound over to the Superior Court for trial.

GOOD SAMARITAN IS STRUCK DOWN

Pullman Porter Befriends Man and is Mysteriously Assaulted in Car.

A. L. Graves, a Pullman car porter whose home is at 743 Maple street, Los Angeles, this morning reported to the police that he was the victim of an unprovoked and mysterious attack in his car at the foot of Wood street last night, having been knocked unconscious with a bludgeon, presumably in the hands of an unidentified man, to whom Graves had given shelter last night.

Graves told the police that at an early hour last evening, a man representing himself as a Pullman conductor, entered the car of which Graves has charge and asked to be allowed to go to sleep there, saying that he had no funds with which to get a bed. Graves granted the man's request. A couple of hours later while Graves was occupied in the car, he was struck from behind being rendered unconscious and his scalp split open. When he regained his senses, the man he had given shelter was gone. Graves was not robbed. He is unable to account for the assault.

PLAN TO OPEN KANSAS CITY STOCKYARD BANK

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 9.—Arrangements had practically been completed today for the re-opening tomorrow of the Stock Yards Bank of Commerce, deposits $250,000, which failed last week following the closing of the National Bank of Commerce.

The institution will be bought outright from the receiver of the National Bank of Commerce. This will be the second bank to have resumed since the flurry last week.

The directors of the National Bank of Commerce are working hard on a plan for the reorganization of that bank and hope to make a sufficiently good showing to gain the permission of Receiver Bradley to reopen.

SUGGESTS CHANGE IN CHINESE LAW

Secretary Straus Files Annual Report—Recommends Protecting Oriental Trade.

WASHINGTON Dec 9—The annual report of Oscar S Strauss secretary of the Department of Commerce and Labor made public yesterday is an exhaustive review of the work of the following bureaus Immigration and naturalization corporation labor statistics manufactures census navigation steamboat inspection service lighthouse establishment fisheries coast and geodetic survey and standards

On the subject of immigration the report shows the total number of aliens admitted during the year was 1 285 349 which exceeded that for the fiscal year 1906 by 185 614 being an increase of 17 per cent During the year 13 064 aliens were rejected an increase over the rejections for the fiscal year 1906 of 632 The total amount of money which was exhibited by arriving aliens and brought into the country was $25 9 833 an average of almost $20 per person During the year 13 064 aliens were rejected

CHINESE CHANGES

On the subject of Chinese immigration the report says

"The real purpose of the governments policy is to exclude a particular and well defined class leaving the other classes of Chinese except as they together with all other foreigners may be included with in the prohibitions of the general immigration laws as free to come and go as the citizens or subjects of any other nation As the laws are framed however it would appear that the purpose was rigidly to exclude persons of the Chinese race in general and to admit only such persons of the race as fall within certain expressly stated exemptions—as if in other words exclusion was the rule and admission the exception I regard this feature of the present laws laws as unnecessary

"A charge in the established policy of rigidly excluding Chinese laborers of every description both skilled and unskilled, is not even suggested At a time when the policy of exclusion has been so thoroughly applied that there remain in the United States only about 70 000 Chinese or less than one tenth of 1 per cent of the total population little danger need be apprehended from a full and fair reconsideration of the whole subject and a recasting of the laws upon a just r basis

LABOR TROUBLES

"I am of the opinion that the creation of some advisory body formed by commercial organizations for the purpose of consulting with and advising the department and vice versa with reference to commercial questions would be of inestimable value in the promotion of foreign commerce

"By comparison with our rank in any other of the great divisions of industrial and commercial endeavor the position of the United States as an ocean-carrying power is insignificant Even in the discharge of ordinary functions of government we have put ourselves under the protection of foreign flags

"I am prepared at this time to recommend a measure that shall insure us superior mail communications with the Republics of South America with Australasia by way of our insular territories in the mid Pacific and with the Philippines by way of Japan and China In my judgment the rate of $4 a statute mile outward bound now provided for twenty knot steamers should also be provided for steamships of sixteen knots or over on the routes which I have indicated

The need of better transportation facilities for passengers between Hawaii and the Pacific Coast was impressed upon me during a recent inspection trip to the territory In consequence of the failure to provide sufficient mail pay at the last session of Congress our mail line to Australia by way of Honolulu and the Samoan group has recently been abandoned This abandonment is a serious blow The three steamers of this line made seventeen or eighteen voyages annually between Honolulu and San Francisco and vice versa and of this regular and comfortable means of travel the people of Honolulu and the islands are now deprived The importance of knitting to ourselves as closely as possible our insular territory in the Pacific does not need argument

CLEANING MADE EASY BY SIMPLE METHODS

Spots and stains on frocks and coats are frequently the despair of the wearers, for nothing can make a garment look worse. The general effect of untidiness and dirt is repellent, and sometimes applications of soap, ammonia or gasoline seem only to make stains, etc., more prominent. This is partly because the cleaning agent has not been adapted to the material, and also because the work is improperly done.

It makes no difference whether silk, wool or cotton is to be cleaned, there must be a fresh piece of cloth underneath to absorb the soiled liquid that soaks through. Otherwise the cleaning fluid, laden with dirt, has not place to go and simply spreads over the original place. Several layers of absorbent material underneath are absolutely necessary, and I doubt if anything is quite as good for this purpose as cheese cloth.

Next to this condition it is important to spread the soiled place out on a smooth surface, that the spot may be watched, to see that no dirt is forming. A skirt board or table is best for this, and the absorbent and scrupulously fresh cloth beneath should be large enough to move several times, so that the old wet dirt may not be rubbed in again.

A bit of old white flannel is the best for wetting and rubbing, and there should be another with which to work the place dry, or nearly so. with care such as this home cleaning is quite practicable and a saving on one's income when the processes and the liquids to be applied on different fabrics are understood.

For removing grease spots from white linen or cotton goods, use soap or weak lyes; for colored calicoes, warm soapsuds; for woolens, soapsuds of ammonia; for silks, benzine, ether, magnesia or chalk.

Spirits of wine will clean soiled silk embroidery. Dip a camel's-hair brush in it and brush the trimming till all the dirt is removed. Jet passementerie can be cleaned by rubbing it with cloth dipped in equal parts alcohol and water. Dry it afterwards with a clean cloth.

When using magnesia the stained place is first dampened, then the magnesia is moistened and vigorously rubbed on the stain. It must be allowed to dry thoroughly. Then the powder can easily be shaken off.

When removing paint stains with turpentine, if the paint spot is surrounded with corn starch it will prevent the turpentine from spreading.

The same process may be tried when removing other kinds of spots. A mixture of pure alcohol and salt is of great assistance in taking out grease stains from tailor-made tweed and serge garments. Coarse kitchen salt should be mixed with the spirit until no more can be absorbed, when a brush should be dipped in it and the material well scrubbed all over as evenly as possible.

Fruit stains on white fabrics should always be attended to at once, before they have been allowed to sink into the goods and mark it irrevocably. Milk is an excellent specific, but in order to be of any use it should be heated to nearly boiling point and applied at once with a piece of flannel, the stained portion being then left to soak in the milk for a few hours.

A hint on the subject of washing mauve muslins and prints is to the effect that a little pinch of soda should be put in the water in which the materials are washed, in order to prevent the color coming out, as it is said that soda has exactly the opposite effect on mauve to what it has on other colors.

Pink or green prints will be brighter if vinegar is put in the rinsing water. Always dry prints in the shade.

HARD UP FOR COAL.

At the present time, when there is a steady and constant demand for coals in Europe, there is a scarcity throughout Europe; prices have been advanced; England is unable to meet the demands from the continent, and several European countries are now looking to other coal-producing countries for their winter supply. The question therefore arises, Why should not this trade be turned to American account? Where there is a demand there is a market; scarcity and inability to fill orders have made this demand, and the opportunity for the fuel of the United States is now at hand.

The increase in price of coals in England is ascribed to various causes. It has been stated that one of the principal reasons for the advance is that many railroad companies are unable to find sufficient cars to carry to the consumers the output of the colliers. This statement is ridiculed by the railroad companies. The exceptionally cold weather during the past few months and the great consumption of coal by the manufactories are doubtless contributory causes to the advance.

A NEW IDEA.

"Hurrah!" exclaimed the inventor of predigested hay, "a man has lived four days in a mine on nothing but oil and wood."

"Well, what's in that to shout about?"

"Plenty. You're stupid. It gives me a new idea for a breakfast food."—Philadelphia Ledger.

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—The week's first prices of stocks were lower as a rule, although there were exceptions among the recent speculative favorites.

The resistance shown by these had the effect of checking the decline after the opening. The Hill stocks, Union Pacific, St. Paul, Reading and Brooklyn Transit were the firm spots, rising 1½ over Saturday's level. Among the declines Wabash preferred fell 1⅛, American Smelting 1⅝, Southern Railway preferred 1, and Atchison, Chesapeake and Ohio, New York Central, Amalgamated Copper and Anaconda large fractions.

The rally held for a while and St. Paul, Great Northern preferred and Delaware and Hudson were benefited 2 points, Southern Pacific, Missouri Pacific, Pacific Coast and Chicago and Alton 1.

A wave of selling orders swept over the market later, centering on the coppers, and although Reading was rushed up to 95 in an endeavor to check the selling, the advances were wiped out and some severe losses effected. Anaconda and American Smelting broke 2¼ to 2¾, American Sugar and Amalgamated Copper 1½.

The constant renewal of the selling of the copper stocks interrupted occasional rallies elsewhere. United States Reduction fell 5, American Smelting 3⅝, Westinghouse Electric 2½, Amalgamated Copper 2⅛, National Lead and Southern Railway preferred 1½, American Locomotive 1¾, and New York Central, Union Pacific preferred, Erie first preferred and American Car 1. Westinghouse Electric first preferred sold at an advance of 6, Granby Mining 7, Pacific Coast 3, United States Rubber first preferred 2½, Manhattan 2 and Sloss Sheffield Steel 1. Bonds were steady.

Prices continued on the downward course, the 5 point drop in Western Union being regarded with considerable disfavor. American Smelting also lost 4⅛.

COTTON CROP IS FAR SHORT OF LAST YEAR

Ginneries in operation numbered 26,976. In this bulletin round bales are counted as halves.

BUCKSKIN POUNDING AWAY

TONOPAH, Dec. 9.—The depression in the money market has been felt in Buckskin to some little extent, but the different properties that were closed down owing to their funds having been tied up in outside banks are now about to resume again, having made satisfactory settlements of their financial affairs.

The Honest Endeavor will resume work with a full complement of men on the first of the coming month and the Union Blue will start up about December 15.

Richards & Grant have taken over the famous Champagne lease on the Kennedy Consolidated ground and are rushing work to the full capacity of facilities. In the drift on the 100-foot level a large body of high-grade ore has been blocked out and is being sacked and piled up on the dump ready for shipment.

Buckskin is believed to be one of Nevada's most substantial camps, and the next few months will witness great strides in a mining way in the territory tributary to that thriving town.

FOREIGNERS SEND COIN TO EUROPE

While Banks Bring Millions in Aliens Send Large Amounts Away.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—While the banks are bringing millions in money into the United States, the foreign born population of the country is sending millions out. The foreign postal order business of the New York postoffice for last month was $1,300,000 in excess of the business for the corresponding month last year. This year's figures are $3,631,827, while the figures for November, 1906, were $5,499,125. There is every indication that the Christmas business of the foreign postal order department of the postoffice will be much larger this year than ever before.

ITALY LEADS.

The distribution of the money is interesting. Italy led all foreign countries for the week ending November 30 with $609,962. For other countries the figures were:

Great Britain, $284,731; Austria, $168,536; Hungary, $155,770; Sweden, $121,480; Germany, $72,109; France, $25,627; Switzerland, $13,869. In each case this is an increase over the amounts sent during the last week in November a year ago.

BICYCLE CONTESTANTS INJURED IN COLLISION

Two Members of Irish-English Team Seriously Hurt.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—During a terrific sprint in the sixth hour of the international six-day bicycle race, Harry Reynolds and James Benyon, the Irish-English team, in relieving each other, collided and both were so painfully injured that they were unable to continue.

Reynolds suffered from a severe concussion of the left forearm and Benyon was bruised about the body and lower limbs. The sprint was started by Breton, closely pressed by Fogler, and after a wild burst of speed Dupree, Benyon and Reynolds fell, the result being that Wilcox, Lawson, Galvin and Jacquelin each lost one lap and Limberg lost two laps.

All the remaining teams at 8 o'clock this morning had covered 154 miles.

Bobby Walthours of Atlanta, who was paired with Matt Downey of Boston, withdrew when he had completed 187 miles and one lap. He said he had a lame arm and shoulder. His retirement did not disqualify his partner.

FEAR RIOT NEXT 'BLUE SUNDAY'

Thousands Pace New York Theaters When All Theaters Are Closed by Law.

NEW LORK, Dec. 9.—New York's "blue Sunday" will be remembered for a long time. For the first time in the history of the city 350,000 people who usually attend some form of amusement on that day were forced to amuse themselves by walking the streets or in the parks.

There was not a theater, not a concert hall, dance hall or lecture room open in the city and four hundred penny arcades that usually do an enormous business on Sunday were closed. Even the donkeys that carry children on their backs for a small fee in Central Park rested.

BIG MONEY LOSS.

It is estimated that actors, musicians and employes of the various entertainments that are usually open on Sundays lost $75,000 by the forced closing of everything and the estimated loss to the amusement interests of the city is placed at $150,000.

The board of aldermen will meet tomorrow and will remove the cause of the difficulty in so far as it is possible for them to do so. It is thought the conditions next Sunday will be considerably improved. The police say genuine disorder would follow the attempt to enforce another "blue Sunday."

BROADWAY DESERTED.

Broadway was deserted during the day except for those who found nothing better to do than to walk the streets. At the theaters even the box offices were closed and the advance sales for the week interrupted.

The "blue Sunday" restraint was applied only to places of amusement and tonight some of the theatrical men declared that from a saloon standpoint the town was unusually wide open. It was not denied that all places having licenses of any description had done a big business, but the police insisted that they had not permitted any violation of the liquor law.

As the evening grew late and the crowds left the cafes Broadway began to fill up and soon a throng such as seen on New Year's eve and election night was moving up and down the popular thoroughfares.

OFFER PRAYERS FOR LIFE OF FILIBUSTER

New Jersey Man Under Sentence of Death in Brazil.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Prayers were offered in the First Presbyterian Church of Hackensack, N. J., yesterday, for the safety of George H. Vice, one of a party of filibusterers captured in Brazil recently and sentenced to be shot.

Vice lived in Hackensack, where his mother still resides. He, with a number of other Americans and Canadians, joined Sebastian Magali, who recruited a hundred men and then attempted to capture the State of Minas Geraes, Brazil. Brazilian troops captured the party.

Mrs. Vice has appealed to the State department to save the life of her son, and diplomatic steps have been taken to investigate the case.

Counsel on both sides agreed to this date.

On the eve of the final clash for control President Harahan expressed confidence in victory.

BREWERS AID IN ABOLISHING DIVES

Big Companies to Assist Reasonable Temperance Reformers in Their Work.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—America's foremost brewers are prepared to join with reasonable temperance reformers in a movement to abolish the dive and the drunkard, the saloon that caters to women and children, and every sort that does not obey the strict letter of national and state legislation.

This, in substance, is the result of a conference between representatives of great brewing interests in this city.

No secret is made by those interests that the wave of prohibition which, in local option or other forms, has swept over the South and is making deep inroads in the North, inspires their movement.

WALSH TRIAL DELAYED BY JUROR'S ILLNESS

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—The trial of John R. Walsh, which was postponed last week because of the illness of a juror, was again postponed until tomorrow. It is believed the juror will be able then to be present.

Uncle Erastus had been polishing his musket for half an hour. At last he gave it a final love pat, and turned to his grandson, "Chile," he said, "does you see dat bottle about thirty yards over dere?"

"Shore I does," Rufus agreed.

The old man threw up the musket and balanced it rather shakily. "Whang!" it bellowed. "Now does you see dat bottle?" the old man demanded.

"I's powerful glad to hear dat, Rufe," the old man said calmly. "I's been afeard from de way you sorted taters lately dat your eyesight was failing—but hit hain't. You's good fo' several yeahs yit, Rufus."—Youth's Companion.

FIND DEAD BODY OF RICH RANCHER

Discovered Floating on Bay and Relatives Think it Murder.

ALAMEDA, Dec. 9.—The body of Melville D. Burnett, a wealthy Solano county rancher and active in State politics in his district, who disappeared from the Newhall House in Oakland on November 26th, was found floating in the bay off the Alameda mole yesterday morning. There were no marks of violence on the body and the morgue officials are of the belief that he met an accidental death or committed suicide.

Relatives of the man, however, declare that he must have been murdered. They say he was not despondent and had no reason for committing suicide. When he left home he had about $30 in his possession, while there was but $1 cents in the pockets when the body was discovered yesterday.

TALKED TO STRANGER.

Burnett arrived in Oakland in September and was undergoing medical treatment. It was while on his way to a physician's office that he disappeared. He was last seen in Jefferson Park, Oakland, talking to an unidentified man. The police are now searching for this man.

They are not inclined to the belief that Burnett was murdered for his money. The only means by which he was identified was through letters in his pockets and the police believe that had he fallen victim to a footpad the letters would have been removed before his body was cast into the bay so that identification would have been impossible.

The body was seen by passengers on the ferryboats and Deputy Coroner Dragoo went to the mole and removed the body from the water. It had evidently been in the water ten or twelve days. An examination showed that death was due to drowning. The skull was intact. Burnett was 78 years of age. He is survived by three sons.

CONSUMPTION

Its Cause and Suggested Means of Recovery.

Consumption is not always an inherited disease, and a large percentage of cases may be attributed to the following causes:

First, defective digestion. Second, imperfect nutrition as a result of the first. Third, the accumulation of morbid product in the lungs as the result of imperfect nutrition, and this in turn breaks down the function of respiration and consumption is an established disease.

The first step toward a cure is to restore the function of nutrition, and to this end nothing in the world excels Vinol.

It is for this reason we want every person in Oakland to know about our delicious cod liver preparation, Vinol, which is far superior to old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions because it is made by a scientific, extractive and concentrating process from fresh cods' livers, combining with peptonate of iron all the medicinal, healing, body building elements of cod liver oil, but no oil.

In pulmonary diseases, it nourishes the body, increases vigor, checks the cough and often mitigates the disease. As a strength-creator for old people, delicate children, weak, run down persons, and after sickness, Vinol is unexcelled.

We ask Oakland people to try Vinol on our offer to return their money if it does not give satisfaction. The Owl Drug Co., Oakland, Cal.
